11 November, 2009

Demonstration that Jesus Christ is the Messiah that Hebrews await

Rafael Luis Serralta Nogués (1928 - 2023)

Phone: (305) 951-7435

Email: rlserralta@netzero.net

Miami, FL 33265-5126

Edition: Joan Andrés Buriticá Salazar

Email: andres6936@live.com

Version: March 2026

CHAPTER 1

Demonstration that Jesus Christ is the Messiah that Hebrews await

- Demonstration that Jesus Christ is the Messiah that Hebrews await
- Why is every line in this book numbered?
- Summary of Chapter 1

CHAPTER 2

Daniel's prophecy of the 70 weeks of years tells us the time of the coming of the Messiah

- Daniel's prophecy of the 70 weeks of years tells us the time of the coming of the Messiah
- Summary of Chapter 2

CHAPTER 3

Isaiah clearly prophesied Jesus Christ's sacrifice

- Isaiah clearly prophesied Jesus Christ's sacrifice
- Summary of Chapter 3

CHAPTER 4

Malachi, the prophet, warned that the Messiah would enter this Temple and that He would have a precursor just as Haggai prophesied

- Malachi, the prophet, warned that the Messiah would enter this Temple and that He would have a precursor just as Haggai prophesied
- Summary of Chapter 4

CHAPTER 5

Other prophecies

- Other prophecies
- The Messiah is to be born in Bethlehem. Jesus was born in Bethlehem.
- Psalm 22 prophesies about Jesus Christ
- The prophecy of David about the resurrection of Jesus Christ
- Let's see a prophecy about the Wise Men
- The Messiah riding on a donkey
- The one who pours the spirit of grace is the one who was pierced
- The Messiah was going to be born of a virgin
- Summary of Chapter 5

CHAPTER 6

Should a sincere worshiper of God change His laws without divine authorization? Passover

- Should a sincere worshiper of God change His laws without divine authorization? Passover
- Sins were cleansed by sacrificial lambs. How can they purify themselves if there are no sacrifices today?
- The actual Judaism is not a divine Mosaic religion, but a non-divine rabbinical religion.
- Summary of Chapter 6

CHAPTER 7

The destruction of the genealogies and the Messiah

- The destruction of the genealogies and the Messiah
- There are no existing genealogies today
- Summary of Chapter 7

CHAPTER 8

Genealogy and the priesthood

- Genealogy and the priesthood
- The future Jewish priesthood will be illegitimate as there are no genealogies
- The absence of the Temple is a warning that God separated Himself from them
- Summary of Chapter 8

CHAPTER 9

Is Jesus Christ the Son of God?

- Is Jesus Christ the Son of God?
- Summary of Chapter 9

CHAPTER 10

Slandering Christ is easier than reading Scripture, but more dangerous to the slanderer

- Slandering Christ is easier than reading Scripture, but more dangerous to the slanderer
- Summary of Chapter 10

CHAPTER 11

Prophesies of the Old and the New Testament indicate to us that the Jews would convert to Christ in final times

- Prophesies of the Old and the New Testament indicate to us that the Jews would convert to Christ in final times
- The Messiah would come twice: once as the Lamb of God and the other as the King of the Earth
- Summary of Chapter 11

Demonstration that Jesus Christ is the Messiah that Hebrews await

Chapter 1

Why I wrote this book

Whoever is a sincere believer and who thinks that his belief is the only correct believe, or even just better, has a duty to proclaim them for the benefit of others. He should propagate his faith. He should not "feed himself" alone without considering what will happen eternally to others. To silence our beliefs is a form of cruel selfishness, since by doing so we are condemning those who do not have a faith that saves for all eternity. Whoever does not proclaim his faith, it is because he despises other human beings, because his fellow human beings and their eternal destiny does not matter to him, or because in reality he is not sure that his belief is true or better. It is just as simple as that. This is why I present my faith to everyone, including Jewish people.

The purpose of this book is to help all Hebrews of good faith to verify that Jesus Christ is the Messiah. I do it so that while verifying this, they can find salvation for their souls by accepting him as the Lamb of God that takes away the sins of the world.

Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Moses and the other patriarchs sacrificed a lamb to atone for their sins. They did this because God revealed that He would send the Messiah that would be the True Lamb of God that would take away the sins of the world.

Today some benighted folks regard the sacrifice of lambs for the pardon of sins that faithful Jews did during the epochs before the destruction of the Temple by the Romans, to be barbaric. This was not savagery, but rather symbolism for what they knew would occur some day in the future. The Lamb of God was Jesus Christ. This is why after His sacrifice God permitted the destruction of the Temple that put an end to the sacrifice of lambs in the Temple forever.

The purpose of this book is to demonstrate that Jesus is the Messiah, the True Lamb of God, to the Jews that believe in the writings of Moses and the prophets. I do not base this on the writings of the "wise," but rather on the Hebrew Scriptures, that is, the Old Testament. I am not using the opinion of priests, rabbis or pastors, those who are regarded as "wise" by their followers. The only Wise One is our Creator who gave us the Scriptures of the prophets to guide us in our behavior and to reach the knowledge about who the wished for Messiah will be and when He will come. If we read the Scriptures, we will see that the Messiah is to have two comings to the Earth. One as a lamb to be sacrificed for the sins of those that love God; another as the King of the World, to govern with a rod of iron. The First Coming has already occurred with the birth, life without sin, crucifixion, death and resurrection of Jesus. The Second Coming is yet to happen, and does not seem far off in coming.

When a person in good faith believes that he has found a truth that could benefit others, his duty is to share it. This is what I am doing.

God has not given us the Scriptures so that we have to depend on others to understand them. The Creator gives His Word so that any human being can understand it, a wise man as well as a fisherman. Just the same, as always happens, some folks take advantage of the situation and try to get us to believe that if it is not through his "superior intellect" or through his "divine anointing," we, who are simple mortals, cannot find out what God expects of us.

On the day that we face the Final Judgment, we will not be asked what our pastors, rabbis or priests taught us, but rather what did the Holy Scriptures say. This is why in this book there will be no mention of the opinion of any rabbi, priest, pastor or "wise" theologian. Instead we will depend only on what the true prophets of God said.

In general the clergy of all the religions "live off of their story," and charge us a lot to "teach" what they assert is the product of "wisdom" and much study. God gives all of the humans an opportunity to search for the truth; we do not have to rely on others.

My counsel to all who read this book is to look for the Hebrew Scriptures (Old Testament) written in Hebrew and printed with the seal of the orthodox by orthodox printers, to substantiate the truthfulness of the arguments that are written here. Do not use modern language translations, because when the translators come to those passages that show that Jesus is the Messiah, their special interests tend to cause them to distort the translation. What has been written in Hebrew is not distorted, especially the ancient manuscripts found in the libraries.

There are several reasons why the ancient texts are dependable. First-, the Jews that are true believers have not permitted to distort the Word of God when recording it. Second, those that make translations from the Hebrew to English, Spanish or any other language are not afraid that their distortions will be discovered because those that know Hebrew do not read these altered translations, and those that do not know Hebrew cannot challenge the translation.

Where I worked, there was a fellow worker, a Biophysics scientist, who was a Hebrew Sabra, that is, someone who was born and raised in Israel. This is why he read and understood Hebrew perfectly well. The man was not religious, was not interested in these questions and really had no prejudicial opinion. Since both of us spoke English, he translated what I asked about to English.

I had an Old Testament written in Hebrew, that a now deceased Jewish friend had given me. He brought it from Israel. When I wanted to see if whether a passage in the Old Testament translated in the Reina-Valera [the principal translation of the Scriptures to Spanish] was the same in Hebrew, I photocopied the passage in my Hebrew Scripture and took it to my companion, asking him to translate it to English. Every time that he did it, what this Jewish Sabra said harmonized with the Reina-Valera in Spanish and differed from the rabbinical translations to Spanish in Argentina. This is why I counsel you to use the ancient Hebrew Scriptures if you know Hebrew. Or, use the method that I used, find a Sabra who is not religious and use him to translate without bias the passages you are interested in.

Why is every line in this book numbered?

To my way of seeing things, every writer should be accessible to healthy and edifying discussion, and not enclosed in his "ivory tower" without permitting debates on his theory. This is why I give access to those who oppose what I say, because I consider that the light comes out of healthy debate. This way I benefit because those errors I might have are corrected, and my interlocutors benefit because they can drop any errors they may have.

None of the authors I have known has wished to dispute his doctrines or interpretations of the Scriptures in writing. What they say is to be believed dogmatically; because "magister dixit." And if one tries to challenge what they teach with written reasons and arguments, these "authorities" reply saying that they do not want to "waste their time" because they are "very busy." This way they avoid being shown to be in error.

Summary of Chapter 1

Whoever is a believer in good faith and considers that his religion is the only right one, or the best, should proclaim it for the benefit of others. The purpose of this book is to help all of the Hebrews of good faith to prove that Jesus is the Messiah, the Lamb of God. This is how their souls can be saved.

On the day that we face the Final Judgment, we will not be asked about what our pastors, rabbis or priests taught, but rather what the Holy Scriptures say.

Since I do not know the Hebrew language, I availed myself of a Jewish Sabra that worked with me. He was not religious and translated without prejudices. I recommend that you do something similar.

Daniel's prophecy of the 70 weeks of years tells us the time of the coming of the Messiah

Chapter 2

Daniel's prophecy of the seventy weeks is one of the prophecies that show with great precision that the Lord Jesus is the Messiah. This prophecy indicates the time from when Artaxerxes king of Persia gave permission to Nehemiah for the reconstruction of Jerusalem until the coming of the Messiah. This is what we will consider in this chapter.

Since we now use the word "week" only to indicate the lapse of seven days, it is important to first demonstrate that in the time of Moses and the prophets, the word also was used in the sense of a period of seven years.

In Genesis 29:27-28, we see, that from very early times, one of the biblical meanings for the word "week" was as a period of seven years. Here the word "week" is related directly to a period of seven years. This is important to establish, because the meaning of "week" in this case is the key for the interpretation of the prophecy of the Seventy Weeks.

After Jacob was deceived by his father-in-law who gave Leah to Jacob to be his first wife instead of Rachel, Laban proposed that his son-in-law work "another week" before also giving him Rachel.

> " 27 Fulfill her week, and we will give thee this also for the service which thou shalt serve with me yet seven other years. 28 And Jacob did so, and fulfilled her week; and he gave him Rachel his daughter to wife also."
>
> (Gn 29:27-28)

As we saw in this passage, a period of seven years is called a "week." Again in Leviticus 25:8 we see that a lapse of seven years is called a "week". Those who have not read the Bible do not know that "weeks of years" are mentioned. In the following verse we see another occasion when seven years are called a "week."

> "And thou shalt number seven sabbaths of years, unto thee, seven times seven years; and the space of the seven sabbaths of years shall be unto thee forty and nine years."
>
> (Lv 25:8)

We see again in the verse we just read that the word "week" (or equivalent "Sabbath) is also used to indicate a period of seven years. Now that we are aware of the ancient use of the word "week" to indicate a period of seven years, let's read a prophecy from the ninth chapter of the book of the prophet Daniel.

At the beginning of the chapter we see Daniel seeking the will of God and praying for it. We learn this as we read the first twenty-three verses of the chapter where an angel appeared which made the following revelation. (As you carefully analyze this revelation, you will find that the revelation in this passage is only consistent with Jesus Christ.)

> " 24 Seventy weeks are determined upon thy people and upon thy holy city, to finish the transgression, and to make an end of sins, and to make reconciliation for iniquity, and to bring in everlasting righteousness, and to seal up the vision and prophecy, and to anoint the most Holy. 25 Know therefore and understand, that from the going forth of the commandment to restore and to build Jerusalem, unto the Messiah the Prince, shall be seven weeks, and threescore and two weeks; the street shall be built again, and the wall, even in troublous times. 26 And after threescore and two weeks shall Messiah be cut off, but not for himself; and the people of the prince that shall come shall destroy the city and the sanctuary; and the end thereof shall be with a flood, and unto the end of the war desolations are determined. 27 And he shall confirm the covenant with many for one week; and in the midst of the week he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to cease, and for the overspreading of abominations he shall make it desolate, even until the consummation, and that determined shall be poured upon the desolate."
>
> (Dn 9:24-27)

From this very important passage of Daniel's prophecy we can come to the conclusion that God was revealing that the Jewish people were to pass through three distinct periods.

The first period was the seven weeks, that is the 49 years while they turned to building the plaza (street) and wall during trying times. This occurred in Nehemiah's time, you only have to read the book of Nehemiah in the Bible to confirm this.

The second period was the seventy-two weeks, which comes to 434 years. Adding the first period of 49 years to the 434 years adds up to 483 (49+434=483). After the 483 years the Messiah will come, according to verse 25. After His coming, they will take His life as verse 26 clearly states. Afterwards the City of Jerusalem and its Temple will be destroyed.

From this reading of Daniel's prophecy, we can conclude that:

a) God has decreed a period of 70 weeks of years for the people of Israel.

b) The Messiah will arrive (69 weeks) 483 years after the order is given for the restoration of Jerusalem.

c) The Messiah will be killed following the 483 years after the order to restore Jerusalem.

d) After the Messiah's life is taken, the City of Jerusalem and the Temple will be destroyed which happened when Titus Flavius, the son of the Emperor Vespasian razed the city.

e) After these two periods which add up to 69 weeks, there remains a future third period of one week of years when Israel will again enter into God's prophecy.

These will be the final seven years of the history of the world. The first three years and six months of these seven years will be distinguished by the appearance of what the Book of Revelation (in the New Testament) calls "the two witnesses." These two of God's prophets will perform miracles like in the ancient times did Elijah. After the first three and a half years, the antiChrist will appear and rule for forty-two months (three years and a half). This figure will kill God's special witnesses and will make the people believe that he is the Messiah. Then he will demand that the people worship him as a god and require that they mark themselves with the number 666 which many will do.

When should we begin to count the 483 years? Knowing what Daniel's prophecy says, we are able to demonstrate how the prophecy of the Messiah is fulfilled by Jesus Christ. But, to know when the 483 years finish, we first need to know when the period begins.

According to Daniel's prophecy, "from the going forth of the commandment to restore and to build Jerusalem unto the Messiah and Prince, there will be seven weeks, and threescore and two weeks" for a total of 69 weeks of years. Therefore, let's go to Scripture to find out, there we will find when this command was given.

Nehemiah 2:1-6 turns out to be one of the most important passages in relation to the Messiah. We base the prophecy of the seventy weeks of years that is found in Daniel 9:24-27 on the date given in Nehemiah for the beginning of this period. Both passages together form a magnificent way to prove to Jews that Jesus is the Messiah in His First Coming and to prove to atheists that the Bible is a book from God as we shall see.

At the beginning of chapter two of Nehemiah, we see he is living during the twentieth year of Artaxerxes' rule. At this time Jerusalem is still destroyed due to Nebuchadnezzar's siege at the time when Zedekiah was king of Judah. We know this from Nehemiah 1:3 and from the details of what Nehemiah said to the king Artaxerxes in Nehemiah 2:3-5. In these verses we find evidence that:

a) The people were living in affliction and reproach. The walls of the city were destroyed and the gates burned.

b) The city was deserted and very few were living there. This is confirmed by Nehemiah 11:1-2 where we learn of a kind of compulsory levy to recruit inhabitants for Jerusalem.

c) Nehemiah asks the king directly to be sent to rebuild Jerusalem which is certainly a sign that the city had not yet been reconstructed. In addition we can confirm in this passage that King Artaxerxes was giving Nehemiah the order to rebuild as well as the means and authority to do so.

As a result there cannot be the least doubt that the "commandment to restore and to rebuild Jerusalem took place during the twentieth year of the rule of king Artaxerxes of Persia.

> " 1 The words of Nehemiah the son of Hachaliah. And it came to pass in the month Chisleu, in the twentieth year, as I was in Shushan the palace, 2 that Hanani, one of my brethren, came, he and certain men of Judah; and I asked them concerning the Jews that had escaped, which were left of the captivity, and concerning Jerusalem.And they said unto me: The remnant that are left of the captivity there in the province are in great affliction and reproach. The wall of Jerusalem also is broken down, and the gates thereof are burned with fire."
>
> (Neh 1:1-3)

This passage which we have just referred to proves that in the twentieth year of king Artaxerxes rule, Jerusalem was still destroyed without gates and walls for defense. Now we shall see how during this same twentieth year of Artaxerxes that this king gave the order to restore Jerusalem.

> " 1 And it came to pass in the month Nisan, in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes the king, that wine was before him; and I took up the wine, and gave it unto the king. Now I had not been beforetime sad in his presence. 2 Wherefore the king said unto me: Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou art not sick? This is nothing else but sorrow of heart. Then I was very sore afraid, 3 and said unto the king: Let the king live for ever; why should not my countenance be sad, when the city, the place of my fathers' sepulchres, lieth waste, and the gates thereof are consumed with fire? 4 Then the king said unto me: For what dost thou make request? So I prayed to the God of Heaven. 5 And I said unto the king: If it please the king, and if thy servant have found favour in thy sight, that thou wouldest send me unto Judah, unto the city of my fathers' sepulchres, that I may build it. 6 And the king said unto me, (the queen also sitting by him,): For how long shall thy journey be? And when wilt thou return? So it pleased the king to send me; and I set him a time."
>
> (Neh 2:1-6)

Not only did the king Artaxerxes give the command, but he also granted Nehemiah authority as well as soldiers and resources to carry out the work. As we read in the book of Nehemiah:

> " 7 Moreover I said unto the king: If it please the king, let letters be given me to the governors beyond the river, that they may convey me over till I come into Judah; 8 and a letter unto Asaph the keeper of the king's forest, that he may give me timber to make beams for the gates of the palace which appertained to the house, and for the wall of the city, and for the house that I shall enter into. And the king granted me, according to the good hand of my God upon me. 9 Then I came to the governors beyond the river, and gave them the king's letters. Now the king had sent captains of the army and horsemen with me."

(Neh 2:7-9)

As we have seen, the command for the restoration of Jerusalem was given during the twentieth year of king Artaxerxe's rule. In addition Daniel 9:25-26 clearly states that from the going forth of the commandment to restore and to bu Jerusalem, unto the Messiah the Prince, shall be seven weeks, and threescore and two weeks. The weeks which the text mentions form two periods, one of 7 weeks and another of 62 weeks which together total 483 years.

" 25 Know therefore and understand, that from the going forth of the commandment to restore and to build Jerusalem unto the Messiah the Prince shall be seven weeks, and threescore and two weeks. The street shall be built again, and the wall, even in troublous times. 26 And after threescore and two weeks shall Messiah be cut off, but not for himself*; and the people of the prince that shall come shall destroy the city and the sanctuary; and the end thereof shall be with a flood, and unto the end of the war desolations are determined."*

(Dn 9:25-26)

Now we turn to the Encyclopedia Britannica, XV edition of 1977, Micropaedia, volume 1, page 549. Here we see that the King Artaxerxes I, the king who gave the order to "restore and rebuild Jerusalem", ruled from the year 465 to 425 B.C. If this monarch began to rule in the year 465, then his twentieth year of rule would be 445 B.C. We already know that the biblical and historical chronology is not real precise, but even so, it can be used as a basis for finding the truth.

If from the twentieth year of Artaxerxes rule (445 B.C.) until the Messiah, 483 years were to pass, then we can make the calculation and see that we fall in the year 38 A.D. (after Christ). In other words even with the imprecision of the chronology, our calculations place us in the epoch of Jesus Christ.

Even if someone objects that the calculations fall in the year 38 and not in the year 33, when Christ was crucified, nor in the year zero when Jesus was born, this is irrelevant for two reasons:

a) The five year difference is not that great in view of the inexactness of the ancient chronologies. Even our present chronology has an error of four years.

b) During all of this period of time no other personage emerged with messianic stature aside from Jesus Christ.

In other words, our problem is not to try to see which of three or four contemporary personalities of the epoch better fit with the prophetic chronology. If there had been other "messiahs" with the religious stature of Christ, there could have been some doubts; but that did not happen. He was unique among all the people of that entire period. Therefore it is logical to conclude that He was the one who fulfilled the time which was prophesied even though at this distance of time there is a small divergence in the calculation.

In reality true believers in the Hebrew Scriptures have two alternatives: a) Either Jesus is the Messiah in His First Coming, or b) the prophet Daniel miserably failed in his prediction, something that a Jewish believer would consider to be blasphemy.

Once all of this is understood, we can say that any honest atheist who wishes to reason through this matter, who has an interest in investigating the truth, must realize that here lies a proof of the divine origin of the Bible. The two passages that prove that Jesus fulfills the prophecy about the Messiah belong to the Old Testament; they belong to portion of the Bible that the Jews accept and administrate. No atheist can suspect that these passages were "fixed" so that they would be in agreement with the coming of Jesus Christ, since: 1) the orthodox Jews do not "fix" the Scriptures; and 2) even in the case of an alteration, it would never be done in order to demonstrate that Jesus is the Messiah.

Therefore, if the proofs of the coming of the Christ were precisely prophesied based on passages that could not have been "arranged", it would be right to think that the prophecy has been fulfilled. And if a singular, unique event was prophesied 483 years before its occurrence, then one must conclude that the book that contains the prophecy is not and cannot be a humanly inspired work.

If an atheist wants more proofs that the Bible is God's book, then he can read my book "The Last Four World Powers" that can be found on my website: www.bibleserralta.com. In this book I present the evidences from outside of the Bible that show how the prophecy contained in chapter 7 of the biblical book of Daniel the Prophet is being fulfilled in our time. This prophecy which was made nearly 2,800 years ago states that the last four great powers of the world will be England, Russia, China and the European Union.

Back to the matter at hand. Remember that what Artaxerxes gave was official permission backed by the armed forces (Nehemiah 2:9) to rebuild Jerusalem and not to rebuild the Temple. The order for rebuilding the Temple had been given years before by Cyrus (Ezra 1:1-4). Also, it was Artaxerxes, who in addition to giving permission and troops, as well gave construction materials for rebuilding the city and the wall as we have seen in Nehemiah 2:8-9.

As if to confirm the double use of the word "week", we see a little more ahead in the same book of Daniel where he mentions weeks of days-. Because he was fasting during those weeks, they cannot be weeks of years.

> "In those days I Daniel was mourning three full weeks. I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint myself at all, till three whole weeks were fulfilled."
>
> (Dn 10:2-3)

All of this obvious reasoning and data demonstrate that it was customary to speak in terms of weeks of years. In addition, any Jewish person that believes in the Old Testament as the Word of God, must conclude that if the prophecy of the 70 weeks referred to weeks of days, then the prophecy would not have been fulfilled. I say this because Jerusalem was not destroyed a bit more than a year (seventy weeks of days) after the beginning of its reconstruction as the prophecy states. Since any true believer believes that God's prophecies do not fail, it is necessary to accept that the reference is to weeks of years. Indeed, it was a little more than 483 years after its reconstruction that the city and sanctuary were destroyed, a proof that the weeks in question were weeks of years.

To summarize: Let's situate ourselves in the time of Hebrew history that occurred 483 years after the order for the reconstruction and rebuilding of Jerusalem. During this time period no one of messianic stature arose except for Jesus Christ. No one can show a prophet, chief priest or leader-, nor any other personage that fulfills the prophecy of the seventy weeks like Jesus. Why not accept Jesus as the Messiah then? Because of what your friends could say or think? The larger problem is what God could think when you present yourself before Him and He asks why you did not believe in His Word, and why you preferred the approval of your friends before the approval of your Father in Heaven.

Summary of Chapter 2

The prophecy of the seventy weeks of years in the book of Daniel, chapter 9, accurately shows when the Messiah was to come. The two passages from Genesis 29:27-28 and Leviticus 25:8 show how the word "week" in the biblical epoch was used to indicate a seven year amount of time. Then in Daniel 9:24-27 we see how the prophet Daniel announced that the Messiah was to come 69 weeks of years (483 years) after the command for the restoration of Jerusalem. After this period they would kill the Messiah and afterwards the Temple would be destroyed as well as the City of Jerusalem.

However, there remained a final week of years that were for the future when God would again manifest himself to Israel. Of these seven years of the last week, during the first 3½ years, God would show himself through two witnesses that are described in the New Testament book of Revelation. One of these two prophets could be Elijah. We should not forget that according to Malachi, Elijah is to return. During the second half of the week (the second 3½ years) the antiChrist is to reign and will impose his 666 number. He will be accepted by many and rejected by others.

Afterwards we saw in Nehemiah 2:1-6 that in his twentieth year of rule, Artaxerxes King of Persia, gave the order to restore Jerusalem and he gave Nehemiah authority and resources to do that. Knowing that according to the Encyclopedia the 20th year of this king is approximately the year 445 before Christ, it is easy to calculate that 483 years from then would fall during the year 38 of our Christian era. The only person of messianic stature that appeared during this time was Jesus Christ. One would have to willfully not believe in order to not accept this proof.

Isaiah clearly prophesied Jesus Christ's sacrifice

Chapter 3

The last part of Chapter 52 of Isaiah forms part of the same theme that appears in Chapter 53 which is what in that moment was the future atoning sacrifice of Jesus Christ, the true Lamb of God. From 52:13 forward, the prophet is clearly speaking of the Chosen One of God.

> " 13 Behold, my servant shall deal prudently, he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very high. 14 As many were astonied at thee; his visage was so marred more than any man, and his form more than the sons of men. 15 So shall he sprinkle many nations; the kings shall shut their mouths at him; for that which had not been told them shall they see; and that which they had not heard shall they consider."
>
> (Isa 52:13-15)

In verse 52:14 it is understood that we should not expect that the Messiah would be a great general, a political leader or human style strongman, because the prophet says: "His visage was marred more than any man and His form more than the sons of men." This is why many Jews rejected Him at that time. They wanted a devastatingly strong leader, a victorious general, not a simple carpenter who had come to "sprinkle many nations" with His atoning blood as seen in 52:15. When this verse speaks of nations, it means gentiles.

Jesus perfectly fulfills what is written in 53:1-3 where it is stated that He is to be "despised and rejected" by the people of Israel who hid their faces from Him. It is clear that not all of the people of Israel rejected Christ. We should remember that at the beginning, the Christian Church was formed exclusively by Jews. These Jews were persecuted and killed by other Jews who did not want to admit that Jesus Christ was the Passover Lamb, the Lamb of God. The Lamb that, like in the Temple sacrifices, took away the sins of those who had faith in His sacrifice. These were Jews that did not want to receive Jesus as the Messiah and persecuted their brothers.

> " 1 Who hath believed our report? And to whom is the arm of the LORD revealed? 2 For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground. He hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him. 3 He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief; and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not."
>
> (Isa 53:1-3)

As can be seen by what we have read, it was prophesied that the God's Chosen One would be despised by the people of Israel. What other person of messianic stature has been unanimously rejected by the people of Israel? Doesn't this general rejection and contempt indicate that Jesus is the Messiah who fulfilled this Isaiah's prophecy during His first coming? Who else has fulfilled all that this passage says? If only Jesus fulfills all of this, doesn't this indicate that only Jesus is the Messiah that Isaiah announced? Why reject Him when after the event we understand how this prophecy was fulfilled in reality?

Verses 4-6 clearly indicate what the work of the Messiah was to be: But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities. Then the verses clarify that the LORD hath laid on him, (just as in the case of the sacrificial lambs), the iniquity of us all. How could the prophecy more clearly indicate that the Chosen One of God, the Messiah, came to suffer during His first coming so as to carry away the sins of all of us? Of what other person with messianic stature could you think did fulfill this except only Jesus?

> " 4 Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows; yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. 5 But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed. 6 All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the LORD hath laid on him the iniquity of us all*. 7 He was oppressed, and he was afllicted, yet he opened not his mouth; he is brought* as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth."
>
> (Isa 53:4-7)

In verse 8, while still talking about the Chosen One of God, Isaiah says very clearly that He would die, cut off out of the land of the living. This agrees perfectly with the prophecy of the seventy weeks in Daniel that also state that the Messiah would be killed (Daniel 9:26). If the texts declare that the Messiah was to die, why then expect Him to come and establish His Eternal Kingdom at His first coming? Why not accept that there are two kinds of prophecies regarding the Messiah. One which talks about coming to die, to suffer, to be despised, to redeem the world.And another kind of prophecy which talks about coming to rule, to be respected, to punish, to bring order. Isn't this true? And isn't it Jesus who in His past First Coming and future Second Coming, is the only one who fulfills these prophecies? Why not therefore accept Jesus as the Messiah and Savior?

> "He was taken from prison and from judgment; and who shall declare his generation? For he was cut off out of the land of the living; for the transgression of my people was he stricken*."*
>
> (Isa 53:8)

> "And after threescore and two weeks shall Messiah be cut off*, but not for himself; and the people of the prince that shall come shall destroy the city and the sanctuary; and the end thereof shall be with a flood, and unto the end of the war desolations are determined."*
>
> (Dn 9:26)

Isn't it quite clear from Isaiah 53:9 that the Messiah will die? Whoever reads the Gospel will see that despite making His grave with the wicked (two thieves), a senator of Israel, Joseph of Arimathea, a rich man, asked Pilate for the body so that the part that reads "... with the rich in his death" might be fulfilled.

> "And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth."
>
> (Isa 53:9)

Verse 10 clearly speaks about the resurrection of the God's Chosen One, the Messiah, following His death. We see this in the text after "thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin", where it says: "he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days." What other person with messianic stature can be alleged to have died for the world's sins and then been resurrected except only Jesus Christ? Why not accept Him? The sacrifices of the lambs that the Israelite religion made were not a reflection of supposed "savagery" as many slanderers want us to see. These sacrifices were a symbol of the sacrifice that Jesus Christ was to make for our sins, the Lamb of God who takes away the sins of the world.

> "Yet it pleased the LORD to bruise him; he hath put him to grief; when thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the LORD shall prosper in his hand."
>
> (Isa 53:10)

Finally, in verse 11 we see again how the text clarifies that it is speaking of the Messiah when God calls Him "my righteous servant". There can be no doubt that the text refers to the Messiah in what it is about to say. Then it says that the Messiah shall bear the sin of many at the end of verse 12 where once again it states that the Messiah about whom it is speaking of will die. If the Messiah was to die, why say then that Jesus was not the Messiah because He died?

> " 11 He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied; by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many ; for he shall bear their iniquities- . 12 Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong; because he hath poured out his soul unto death, and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors."
>
> (Isa 53:11-12)

Let's read now the entire portion of the Scriptures we have been studying by parts:

> (Isa 52:13) Behold, my servant shall deal prudently, he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very high.

14 As many were astonied at thee; his visage was so marred more than any man, and his form more than the sons of men.

15 So shall he sprinkle many nations; the kings shall shut their mouths at him: for that which had not been told them shall they see; and that which they had not heard shall they consider.

(Isa 53:1) Who hath believed our report? And to whom is the arm of the LORD revealed?

2 For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground, he hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.

3 He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief; and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not.

4 Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows; yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted.

5 But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.

6 All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the LORD hath laid on him the iniquity of us all.

7 He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth; he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth.

*8 He was taken from prison and from judgment, and who shall declare his generation? For he was cut off out of the land of the living; for the transgression of my people was he stricken.

9 And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

10 Yet it pleased the LORD to bruise him; he hath put him to grief. When thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the LORD shall prosper in his hand.

*11 He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied; by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many; for he shall bear their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong; because he hath poured out his soul unto death; and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors.

(Isa 52:13 to 53:12)

Alexander, Caesar, Napoleon and Christ The Greeks are proud of Alexander the Great and his bloody battles to conquer the world. The Italians venerate Julius Caesar despite the bloody battles he carried out. The French boast of Napoleon Bonaparte, because he conquered a short-lived empire while bleeding France and all of Europe. However the Jews are ashamed of the Jewish Jesus Christ. They despise and reject Him. Some even hate Him. And they do all of that despite the fact that it was with His own blood and not the blood of someone else, with His own suffering and not the suffering of someone else that He redeems us from our sins and has conquered an enduring dominion of thousands of millions of volunteer subiects.

Oh sons of Israel, are you right to be ashamed of Jesus Christ instead of being proud of Him? Is it right for you to despise, reject...and even hate Him? What bad thing has Jesus done to His people?

If Rome has falsified Christ's teaching and has done harm to the Jews while hypocritically invoking His name, is that why Jesus is considered worthy of contempt and hate?

This is as unjust as if the Japanese hated the Jews because Albert Einstein, a Jew genius, provided the theory for the invention of the atomic bomb that the Americans used against Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Or it is as if the whole world because of fear for an impending nuclear holocaust, would decide to destroy the Jews or decide to hate Moses, David or Solomon, because Albert Einstein was the person who made the atomic bomb possible.

Jesus Christ never did anything against the Jews. Hating Jesus because the Roman Church used His name to persecute the Jews, is absolutely unjust.

The Hebrew Scriptures (the Old Testament), that the Jews accept, speaks a hundred times more severely against the Jews than the New Testament. Even though the Jews do not accept it, it contains only a few reproaches, and is filled with words of good will towards the Jews.

Sons of Israel, reconsider the position against Jesus that many of you have, because it will be hard to defend and maintain this attitude when as with all of humanity, each one has to appear before the judgment throne of God in the presence of His Messiah.

Summary of Chapter 3

In the Old Testament there are two kinds of prophecies about the coming of the Messiah. One kind is about the First Coming of Christ when He came as the Lamb of God to suffer for our sins as we have seen in Isaiah, chapters 52 and 53. This prophecy announces that the People of Israel will reject Him. Another prophecy about the First Coming is found in Isaiah 7:14 where it is proclaimed that He will be born of a virgin. The other kind of prophecy proclaims the Second Coming when He will come to rule and bring order and justice to the world.

Roman Catholicism has falsified the teachings of Christ and done damage to the Jews while hypocritically invoking His name. It is not logical, nor just for the Jews to be against Jesus because of this. It is precisely this Jew who has conquered and put under His feet millions of “goyim”, using His own blood and not everyone else’s blood the way Alexander the Great, Julius Caesar and Napoleon Bonaparte did. The peoples of these leaders are proud of these conquering leaders, but the Jewish people unjustly detest Jesus.

Malachi, the prophet, warned that the Messiah would enter this Temple and that He would have a precursor just as Haggai prophesied

Chapter 4

The next verse announces that God would send his messenger to prepare the way, and that after this, the Lord that the Jews were seeking would suddenly come to His Temple (the very same Temple that Malachi knew). The one who was to come was the same messenger of the covenant, the delight of the Jews. Here is the passage:

> "Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me; and the Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his Temple, even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in. Behold, he shall come, saith the LORD of hosts."
>
> (Mal 3:1)

To judge by what is prophesied here, a precursor messenger would be sent first, and then the Messiah would enter that Temple, and not another one. Everyone knows that John the Baptist, who came with the spirit and virtue of Elijah, preceded Jesus, preparing the masses who for centuries had not seen a prophet, for the coming of Jesus.

What other person of messianic stature entered that Temple and was preceded by a powerful messenger like John the Baptist? No one-. Therefore if Jesus is not the Messiah, like many Jews think today, then the prophecy has failed miserably, which is a ridiculous absurdity and is unbelievable for any believing Jew.

What other person with messianic stature, apart from Christ, entered that very Temple? Who else has been preceded in his ministry by a precursor messenger of the stature of John the Baptist? And who else combines the personal characteristics and circumstances that were predicted in Daniel 9 and Isaiah 52-53 and that were to characterize the Messiah?

All of this agrees with what Haggai the prophet said in Haggai 2:6-9. Also he predicted that the Messiah would enter that Temple, and for that reason the glory of that Temple would be greater than that of the first Temple, despite the fact that the first one (Solomon's Temple) had greater riches. Even though the Second Temple was less important from a human perspective and was not as richly decorated as the First Temple, it could only obtain greater glory (as Haggai 2:6-9 says), because it was visited by "the desire of all nations"and "the Lord, whom ye seek."

That is why God says in Haggai 2:8, "The silver is mine, and the gold is mine", as if to say that if I wanted to fill the Second Temple with gold and silver it would not be difficult at all for me, but that will not happen, its greater glory will consist of being the place that the Messiah will visit.

Despite all of these proofs and clarity, there are now a number of "wise linguists" with a lot of pretensions of being "sincere" and "objective" translators that want to alter the translation. They say that the word "desired" that for centuries has appeared in all of the translations is incorrect. According to them, the word should be "riches" instead. In other words instead of the passage saying: "...the desire of all nations" the text should say ". . .the wealth of all the nations..."

In their eagerness to make an "ecumenical" Bible, they are trying to make us see that instead of "the desire of all nations" (which the passage has always said and is what the Hebrew says), that what is coming to the temple is the wealth of all the nations." You can see how they want to annul a prophecy that irrefutably demonstrates that Jesus Christ is the Messiah. The text says:

> " 6 For thus saith the LORD of hosts: Yet once, it is a little while, and I will shake the heavens, and the Earth, and the sea, and the dry land; 7 and I will shake all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come; and I will fill this house with glory, saith the LORD of hosts. 8 The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the LORD of hosts. 9 The glory of this latter house shall be greater than of the former, saith the LORD of hosts. And in this place will I give peace, saith the LORD of hosts."
>
> (Hag 2:6-9)

If you read this passage in the Hebrew of the ancient Jewish Orthodox text, you will see that it is "the desired one" and not "the wealth" which the prophecy mentions. But even without verifying the ancient orthodox version in Hebrew, using the simplest common sense, you can see which is right.

In the first place logic tells us that "the desire of the nations" can come by himself, he is coming on his own accord; but "the wealth of the nations" could not come on its own, somebody has to bring it. Apparently the folks who want to alter the word for "desire" forgot to change the verb "come" to "bring".

Secondly, if Haggai, who lived before the birth of Christ, was referring to Jesus when he said that the "desire of the nations" would come to the Temple, he was right in his prophecy. In fact, the Messiah did come to the Second Temple and filled it with glory. But if the text reads as these modern, suspicious "linguists" want, then Haggai's prophecy failed miserably by referring to "the wealth of the nations" that came. The “wealth of the nations” did not come nor was brought to the Temple nor did it fill the Temple with glory, nor did the world tremble because of the wealth of the Temple.

It was Rome that took the riches of the people in that epoch. This Temple was destroyed in the year 70, A.D. and the wealth of the nations was never brought to the Temple. Therefore, if we allow ourselves to be guided by these suspicious translators and “experts” in the Hebrew language, we have to conclude that Haggai failed and that whoever inspired him also failed which is absurd for any true believer.

However, if we are guided by the translators that came before the modern ecumenism, those that always translated the text as, “the desire of the nations”, we can verify that the prophecy has been fulfilled because:

a) The “desire of the nations” (the Messiah) came to this Temple before it was destroyed

b) The world was shaken at the coming of the Christ.

c) With His coming, the Temple, that was being built at the time of the prophecy and that Haggai referred to, was glorified.

d) The glory of the Second Temple was greater than that of the first because the Messiah came to it and not to the first Temple.

If the prophesied glory was not the result of the coming of the Messiah to the Second Temple, then in what other way was the glory of the Second Temple greater than that of the Temple that the great king Solomon constructed and filled with riches?

Thirdly, we see that if this passage translates the word “desire” as it has always been translated, then it agrees with Malachi 3:1 that announces the same thing. However, if the word is translated as “wealth”, it does not agree with any other passage of the Old Testament and becomes uniquely isolated and unconnected.

> “Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me; and the Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his Temple, even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in. Behold, he shall come, saith the LORD of hosts.”
>
> (Mal 3:1)

Since it was the Second Temple that the prophet referred to, the one with less importance from the human point of view, and with less riches, it is only possible to attribute to it greater glory if, as the prophet Haggai says, “the desire of the nations” (Haggai 2:7) and “the Lord whom ye seek” (Malachi 3:1) came.

This is why God says in Haggai 2:8, “The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the LORD of hosts”; as if to say that if He wanted to fill the Second Temple with gold and silver, it would be no problem at all. But that was not to be, because the greater glory consisted in receiving the Messiah into the Temple.

Fourth, the reason the translators present their fairy tale is to weaken the prophecy of the Messiah. Their fairy tale states that the Second Temple was constructed by Herod, or at least enlarged by Herod to the point that it became greater and better than Solomon’s Temple. They invent this fiction in order to “demonstrate” that the Second Temple was greater and richer than the first. This is how they try to bend Haggai’s prophecy so that it agrees with an unreal “reality”.

It is absurd to think that Herod was going to be able to spend more on the second Temple and give it greater riches than an independent and powerful king like Solomon. Herod could not dedicate more wealth to the Temple than Solomon because: a) He was a third-class kinglet that only governed a small section of Judea, b)he was a vassal of Rome, a kinglet that was dependent on Rome for tax collections and had to send there the riches, c)on the other hand, Solomon possessed enormous riches, he governed all of the territory of Israel as well as the neighboring nations. He had a number of vassal kings that paid him tribute.

That is a fairy tale to say that Herod gave the Second Temple greater riches than Solomon gave to the first; only the unreasoning would swallow that.

In addition to all of this, one must remember that God vetoed David’s wish to construct the First Temple because David had shed much blood. He suffered this veto despite the fact that most of the blood that he shed was generally in justified wars. Just the same, God did veto David’s project so that he did not construct the First Temple.

Can you believe that God vetoed David’s enterprise, but rewarded Herod’s? This kinglet was an assassin of children and adults. Was God going to reward him by granting Haggai’s prophecy that Herod was to construct a more glorious, bigger and better Temple than Solomon’s? Can you think that God was about to base the glory of the Second Temple in the riches and constructions made by an consummate assassin of the Hebrews? Would God veto David, a Hebrew, but approve Herod who in addition to being an assassin was an Edomite and not a Hebrew?

Unfortunately there are many who are confused by these “experts” and that believe their fairy tales. It is a lie to say that the riches of the nations came to rest in the Second Temple. On the contrary, it was the riches of the Second Temple that were dispersed to the nations, especially to Rome under the command of the Roman general Titus Flavius Vespasianus.

Summary of Chapter 4

The prophets Malachi and Haggai predicted that the Messiah would enter the Second Temple. The only person with messianic stature that entered that Temple was Jesus Christ, therefore it follows that He is the Messiah.

Indeed Malachi said that before the Messiah came a messenger from God would come. This was fulfilled by John the Baptist. And then Haggai said that the glory of the Second Temple that was being constructed would be greater than that of the first, because in it would come “the desire of the nations”, the Messiah. Only Jesus Christ fulfills this prophecy well.

In regards to Herod, an assassin, a vassal kinglet of Rome, it was impossible for him to construct a temple greater than the temple that the great King Solomon constructed. If God had denied David permission to construct the First Temple because of the blood he had shed, certainly He would not have granted the construction of a greater temple than Solomon’s to a vile assassin like Herod, nor would God tell Haggai to prophesy such thing.

Other prophecies

Chapter 5

The Messiah is to be born in Bethlehem. Jesus was born in Bethlehem.

If someone does not want to accept the fact that the birth of Jesus in Bethlehem proves that He is the Messiah, he should accept that whoever does come claiming to be the Messiah has to prove that He was born in Bethlehem. The only person who until now has complied with this and all of the other conditions of messiahship has been Jesus. In addition, what other person with messianic stature has been born in Bethlehem?

> "But thou, Bethlehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me that is to be ruler in Israel; whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting."
>
> (Micah 5:2)

There are many other proofs like this that some prefer to call small "coincidences," that prove that Jesus Christ is the Messiah. Let's examine some of these other proofs.

Psalm 22 prophesies about Jesus Christ

All through a reading of Psalm 22, the many similarities with things that happened to Jesus are notable. Consequently, it is easy to deduce that this is a prophecy about Him.

The first similarity is verse one; that is similar to the exclamation that Jesus made from the cross seen in Matthew 27:46.

> "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? Why art thou so far from helping me, and from the words of my roaring?"
>
> (Ps 22:1)

> "And about the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying: Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani? That is to say: My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?"
>
> (Mt 27:46)

When Jesus was on the cross, carrying on His person the sins of all of us, He was converted into the most sinful being in the universe. That is why God, who could not tolerate sin, abandoned Him. This is how by dying like the sacrificial lamb, He paid for the sins of all those that accept the redemption that He gives us. It is like in the ancient sacrifices, if you laid hands voluntarily in the lamb, if you accepted it, your sins were forgiven; if you didn't accepted it didn't avail you.

The second similarity is in verse 8 where the ridicule of the priests, the scribes and the Pharisees towards Jesus is anticipated. They said that if it is true that God is pleased with Him, that God would save Him from the torment He was in. (Matthew 27:43).

> "He trusted on the LORD that he would deliver him; let him deliver him, seeing he delighted in him."
>
> (Ps 22:8)

> "He trusted in God; let him deliver him now, if he will have him; for he said: I am the Son of God."
>
> (Mt 27:43)

If God freed Jesus from the cross, then He would not have died for our sins, and we would continue to be eternally condemned. This is why God did not save Him. That is why God sent him. This is something that his enemies did not understand nor did they want to understand.

The third similarity is found in verse 16 of this Psalm where it says that "they pierced" his hands and feet which is what happened publicly to Jesus. In Spanish the translation of this Psalm by de León Dujovne y Manasés and Moisés Konstantynowski, printed by Editorial S. Sigal, Corrientes 2854, Buenos Aires, Argentina, does not use the words for pierced, but rather the word for "binding" which is evidently not in the original. To solve this, again you must find a Jewish "sabra" to translate and demonstrate who is correct. However without looking for help, it is only necessary to see that in that translation the phrase "binding me" is found in a parenthesis which indicates that the word does not exist in Hebrew, but rather was added by the translators. In the Hebrew version mentioned verse 16 has the number 17.

The fourth similarity is found in verse 18 where it says that they part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture. Matthew 27:35 and other Gospels narrate how this was fulfilled in Jesus.

> "They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture."
>
> (Ps 22:18)

> "And they crucified him, and parted his garments, casting lots, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet: They parted my garments among them, and upon my vesture did they cast lots."
>
> (Mt 27:35)

In summary the following verses of Psalm 22 are in agreement with what happened to Christ.

> -My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? (in verse 1)
>
> -All they that see me laugh me to scorn, they shoot out the lip, they shake the head. He trusted on the LORD that he would deliver him. Let him deliver him, seeing he delighted in him. (in verses 7 & 8)
>
> -For dogs have compassed me, the assembly of the wicked have inclosed me; they pierced my hands and my feet. (in verse 16)
>
> -They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture. (in verse 18)
>
> ()

The prophecy of David about the resurrection of Jesus Christ

Let us examine one of David's prophecies on the resurrection of Christ, the Messiah, the Holy One of God. Since David was a prophet and since his body decayed (was corrupted) in his sepulcher, a passage of Psalm 16 must be a prophecy about the Messiah because David could not be talking about himself.

What is said here could not refer to David since his body has decayed and remained in his sepulcher. On the other hand the body of Jesus did not. If we read the history of Jesus, we see that he was resurrected on the third day; He did not suffer corruption nor did He remain in the sepulcher-, since he ascended to Heaven. For this reason this is a prophecy about the resurrection of Jesus. About whom else does this prophecy coincide so perfectly?

> "For thou wilt not leave my soul in hell; neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption*."*
>
> (Ps 16:10)

Let's see a prophecy about the Wise Men

Here there are two references that clearly point to Christ's birth. Verse 2 of the 60th chapter of Isaiah says that "the glory of the LORD will be risen upon thee." Who is God's glory except for His Messiah? Later in the same verse 2 so as to assure us that this passage is not a metaphor is said: "but the LORD shall arise upon thee, and his glory shall be seen upon thee."

Lastly, remember that regarding the Wise Men who were gentile princes, the text says: "And the Gentiles shall come to thy light, and kings to the brightness of thy rising." In fact the gentile kings did follow the star of Bethlehem, the light that guided them to Jesus. Who else other than Jesus has fulfilled these prophecies?

> " 1 Arise, shine; for thy light is come, and the glory of the LORD is risen upon thee. 2 For, behold, the darkness shall cover the earth, and gross darkness the people; but the LORD shall arise upon thee, and his glory shall be seen upon thee. 3 And the Gentiles shall come to thy light, and kings to the brightness of thy rising."
>
> (Isa 60:1-3)

The Messiah riding on a donkey

Another prophecy is that of the King that comes to Jerusalem riding on an ass instead of the traditional spirited white steed, as the mistaken tradition teaches. Verse 9 shows us that the person riding the ass is the King of Zion during his First Coming. Verse 10 also shows that it is speaking about the Messiah, because it says that his dominion shall be from sea even to sea, and from the river even to the ends of the Earth referring to the Second Coming. From this it is evident that the Messiah was to come to Jerusalem riding on an ass.

> " 9 Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion; shout, O daughter of Jerusalem, behold, thy King cometh unto thee. He is just, and having salvation; lowly, and riding upon an ass, and upon a colt the foal of an ass. 10 And I will cut off the chariot from Ephraim, and the horse from Jerusalem, and the battle bow shall be cut off; and he shall speak peace unto the heathen; and his dominion shall be from sea even to sea, and from the river even to the ends of the Earth."
>
> (Zch 9:9-10)

That the King of Zion was to come riding on a donkey during his First Coming was fulfilled by Jesus on the day of his triumphal entry into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday as is seen in Matthew 21:1-5. This should be enough to prove that Christ is the Messiah. But in case someone wants to allege that Christ did this precisely to prove that He was to be the Messiah, one can answer with the following: It is not logical that He would do this to pretend to be the Messiah because we all know of the mistaken Jewish tradition that the Messiah was to come riding on a white horse, not a donkey.

Although the Sacred Scriptures clearly state that it was a donkey, just the same, what counts is what the people and the religious leaders believed. If Christ would have wanted to make others believe He was the Messiah, He would have ridden in on a white horse. However, he came mounted on an ass because He was not seeking to fool people into accepting Him as a Messiah because He rode on a donkey, since they believed in their tradition instead of the Scriptures.

I said that to believe the Messiah will come riding a white horse is a mistaken Jewish tradition, because the Old Testament does not say so in any of its books. However, Prophet Daniel told us that the Messiah will come on the clouds, not in a white horse, when he was to receive dominion, glory, and everlasting kingdom over the whole world.

> " 13 I saw in the night visions, and, behold, one like the Son of man came with the clouds of heaven, and came to the Ancient of days, and they brought him near before him. 14 And there was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all people, nations, and languages, should serve him; his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed."
>
> (Dn 7: 13-14)

The one who pours the spirit of grace is the one who was pierced

Another prophecy that is in agreement with the person of Jesus Christ is the one that states that the one who pours the spirit of grace is the one who was pierced. There are many clues that have been given in the Old Testament so that the Messiah could be recognized when He came by all who wish to acknowledge Him. Among these clues is the following passage.

> "And I will pour upon the house of David, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the spirit of graceand of supplications. And they shall look upon me whom they have pierced, and they shall mourn for him, as one mourneth for his only son, and shall be in bitterness for him, as one that is in bitterness for his firstborn."
>
> (Zch 12:10)

It is evident that the same person who pours the "spirit of grace" over the inhabitants of Jerusalem is also the one "whom they have pierced". Wasn't Jesus pierced on the cross? Could it be that the "forty" "coincidences" of this sort that appear in the Old Testament and that indicate that Jesus is the Messiah are "pure coincidences"? It does not matter if you do not care to acknowledge the existence of electricity despite the proofs of its existence; if you touch a live wire, the result will be the same, whether you believe in electricity or not.

Jesus will come again and this time He will establish His kingdom whether you believe it or not; and you will be lost if you have not wanted to entreat that He save you. He does not oblige you to be saved, He did all He could to freely give you the salvation. He was the Lamb of God that takes away the sins of the world, He is the one symbolized by the lambs that were sacrificed in the Temple. He was the one symbolized by the lamb killed on the Passover day. That is why he was crucified the same day of the Passover. He gives you the gift of cleansing from sin, but He does not force you to accept this gift if you want to reject it. For a gift to be a gift there are two phases: someone gives and someone accepts the gift.

The Messiah was going to be born of a virgin

Look at the prophecy of Isaiah 7:14 where it states that the Messiah is to be born of a virgin, that is a woman who has never had relations with a man. This prophecy is a clear signal that Jesus Christ is the Messiah for anyone who wishes to examine it with sincerity; just like the prophecy of the seventy weeks.

> "Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign: Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel."
>
> (Isa 7:14)

There are some who reject this, saying that the Hebrew word that is translated "virgin" could equally means "young woman". If in fact the word used in the Hebrew has two possible meanings and can mean "virgin" or "young woman", it is evident to anyone that the correct meaning to choose for the translation is "virgin". Why?

Verse 14 say that God will give us a sign, that is to say, something unusual-, something miraculous. Who would say that it would be a miraculous sign from God if a young woman had a son? Isn't this normal? However, it is indeed a great sign if a virgin has a son. Therefore it is more than reasonable that, given the context, of the two alternative meanings that they say the word has, that "virgin" is the meaning must be chosen for translation.

The most reasonable way to understand what verse 14 says is to accept that a virgin will bear a son, and that this child is Emmanuel (God with us). Nothing else is needed to realize that this son that is to be born of a virgin is the Messiah.

There are those that refute the passage, saying that these verses (Isaiah 7:14-16) refer to the son of Isaiah, the son that is mentioned in the next chapter, in 8:3-4, and not to the Messiah. If the phrase "the virgin will conceive, and bear a son" refers to Isaiah's wife and his son, then we must conclude that they are accepting for Isaiah, his wife and son the miracle of the virginal conception that they are denying for Joseph, Mary and Jesus.

> " 3 And I went unto the prophetess; and she conceived, and bare a son. Then said the LORD to me: Call his name Maher-shalal-hash-baz*. 4 For before the child shall have knowledge to cry, My father, and my mother, the riches of Damascus and the spoil of Samaria shall be taken away before the king of Assyria."*
>
> (Isa 8:3-4)

In addition to this, one must note that although both passages seem to be talking about the same thing, in reality they are about two different things. In the first passage (chapter 7) the passage says that the child is to be named Emmanuel, but the second passage (in chapter 8) says that they are to name the child: Maher-shalal-hash-baz. Both names signify two different things: the first signifies: "God with us" which is in agreement with what Jesus Christ proclaimed about himself, that He is the Son of God. The second name means: "speed to the spoils of war, hasten the booty." The first passage says: "before the child shall know to refuse the evil and choose the good." In chapter 8 we find: "before the child shall have knowledge to cry, My father, and my mother." Additionally, the spirit of the first passage is peace; the spirit of the second is punishment. It is obvious that they are not about the same matter, but rather two different things with some similarities between them.

It is interesting to observe that despite the fact that neither Judaism nor Islamism will admit that this prophecy refers to the Messiah, one of the greatest religions of the world, Christianity, is based on this passage.

Summary of Chapter 5

There are various prophecies in the Old Testament that indicate that Jesus is the Messiah. One of these is Micah 5:2 that says that the Messiah will be born in Bethlehem. Another is psalm 22 which describes the events that occurred when Christ was on the cross. We also have psalm 16:10 where David announces that the body of the Messiah will not see corruption. Another prophecy is Isaiah 60:1-3 which is about the birth of the Messiah and the visitation of the wise men. Another is the prophecy about the Messiah coming to Jerusalem mounted on an ass found Zachariah 9:9-10. In the same vein we can observe things like Zachariah 12:10 that says that the Messiah was to be pierced which is precisely what happened to Jesus on the cross. As we have seen, there are various prophecies that point to Jesus as the Messiah.

Should a sincere worshiper of God change His laws without divine authorization? Passover

Chapter 6

In all of the Old and New Testament, God warns very seriously that his commandments were not be changed. Unfortunately the great majority of the believers in God disregards this warning and changes the commandments. One of these changes, done without divine authorization is to make Sunday the day of rest instead of Saturday. This heresy is found in almost all of the Christian denominations. Another of these changes is the worshiping of the Virgin Mary and of the images of the saints which have been given the category of demi gods as in Catholicism and other so-called Christian religions. Here is what God warns us:

> " 1 Now therefore hearken, O Israel, unto the statutes and unto the judgments, which I teach you, for to do them, that ye may live, and go in and possess the land which the LORD God of your fathers giveth you. 2 Ye shall not add unto the word which I command you*,* neither shall ye diminish ought from it*, that ye may keep the commandments of the LORD your God which I command you."*
>
> (Deut. 4:1-2)

> "What thing soever I command you, observe to do it; thou shalt not add thereto, nor diminish from it*."*
>
> (Deut. 12:32)

> *"Add thou not unto his words, lest he reprove thee, and thou be found a liar."*
>
> (Prv 30:6)

> " 18 For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book*. 19* And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy*,* God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book*."*
>
> (Rev 22:18-19)

As I was saying, almost all of the believers in God disregard or change His commandments and the Jews are no exception. Moses established, by God's command, laws and ordinances that Judaism has dismissed or changed. One of these is the celebration of Passover. Let's see what God commanded and what Judaism has done.

The Passover that the Jews celebrate today is a poor caricature of what God commanded through Moses. In general the same thing happens with their religion: It takes form from a group of superstitions without a biblical basis, without a basis in Moses, but rather is based on the rabbinical commandments.

In the passage that is found below, we see how the Passover was to be observed. And… what about the contemporary Judaism? Does it follow these commands? Certainly not as we shall see:

a) They do not begin the year with the month of the Passover (around March and April). Instead it begins with Rosh Hashanah in September (verse 2).

b) They do not separate out a lamb for each family on the 10th of the corresponding month (verse 3).

c) They do not use a lamb which is one year old (verse 5).

d) They do not sacrifice it on the fourteenth day in the afternoon for eating on this same night (verse 6).

e) They do not anoint the side posts and upper door post with the blood of the lamb (verse 7).

f) Some, rather than eating lamb eat turkey for example.

g) They do not roast the whole lamb, nor eat the lamb with bitter herbs (verses 8-9)

h) They do not burn the remains (verse 10)

I) They do not eat it in haste, as if they were to leave on a journey. Instead they make a feast and eat it unhurriedly (verse 11).

j) And above all, they eat the Passover meal outside of Jerusalem-, something that is expressly prohibited by God. (Deut. 16:5-6). Let's see.

> " 1 And the LORD spake unto Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt, saying: 2- This month shall be unto you the beginning of months, it shall be the first month of the year to you*. 3 Speak ye unto all the congregation of Israel, saying:* In the tenth day of this month they shall take to them every man a lamb-, according to the house of their fathers, a lamb for an house*. 4 And if the household be too little for the lamb, let him and his neighbour next unto his house take it according to the number of the souls; every man according to his eating shall make your count for the lamb. 5 Your lamb shall be without blemish,* a male of the first year*; ye shall take it out from the sheep, or from the goats. 6 And ye shall keep it up until* the fourteenth day*of the same month; and* the whole assembly of the congregation*of Israel shall kill it in the evening. 7-* And they shall take of the blood, and strike it on the two side posts and on the upper door post of the houses*, wherein they shall eat it. 8* And they shall eat the flesh in that night, roast with fire*, and unleavened bread;* and with bitter herbs they shall eat it*. 9 Eat not of it raw, nor sodden at all with water, but roast with fire; his head with his legs, and with the purtenance thereof. 10 And* ye shall let nothing of it remain until the morning; and that which remaineth of it until the morning ye shall burn with fire*.* 11 And thus shall ye eat it; with your loins girded, your shoes on your feet, and your staff in your hand; and ye shall eat it in haste*: it is the LORD'S Passover."*

(Ex 12:1-11)

" 5 Thou mayest not sacrifice the Passover within any of thy gates*, which the LORD thy God giveth thee.* 6 But at the place which the LORD thy God shall choose to place his name in*, there thou shalt sacrifice the Passover at even, at the going down of the sun, at the season that thou camest forth out of Egypt."*

(Deut. 16:5-6)

As we see, the Jewish Passover of our times is a very poor caricature of the one that Moses instituted by God's command. Almost everything that they do today has been invented by the rabbis and not by God as told to Moses. Can this be God's religion? Who gave the leaders and rabbis permission to modify the commands of God? Why are they doing the same thing as the Pope: Inventing a religion and imposing it dogmatically without Scriptural support?

Sins were cleansed by sacrificial lambs. How can they purify themselves if there are no sacrifices today?

Another thing happens with today's Jewish religion. Following God, Moses established that sins were to be cleansed with the sacrifice of lambs that were symbols, a demonstration of faith in what was to come. But now the Jewish religion does not sacrifice lambs nor accept the Lamb of God. Therefore, the sins of the believers are not cleansed, or they pretend to "cleanse" their sins in a way that God through Moses did not establish, but rather was invented by a rabbi or group of rabbis without divine authorization. To whom was given or who usurped the divine authority to change what God had established? They are doing what the Popes do; modify at whim what God instituted.

Jesus was killed at the hour of the sacrifice of the Passover lamb, on the afternoon before the night when the Passover was eaten. Since the true Passover was Jesus, the ritual portion of this event has fallen into disuse.

God is all powerful. If Jesus was not the true Passover, if He had not been the true Lamb of God who takes away once and forever the sins of all who accept his pardon, God would not have permitted the cessation of the Temple sacrifices.

If the only way that God had established for the cleansing of our sins was the sacrificing of lambs in the Temple, and if the Temple no longer existed for the sacrificing of lambs, then how would there be pardon for the sins of the Jews who died from the time when the Temple was destroyed until now? And how would their sins be forgiven today? With what authority has a new way of obtaining cleansing for sins be established, if any new way has been established? And if no new way has been established, what is the destiny of sinners who are Jewish?

All of this is screaming into the ears of every Jew who does not close his ears, that the Temple sacrifices were a simple symbol of the future sacrifice of Jesus Christ on the cross. This is why that once the true sacrifice of the true Lamb of God occurred, there is no longer any need for the Temple nor for the sacrifices of lambs. For this reason the Temple that was destroyed has never been rebuilt in about 2000 years.

In chapter 16 of the book of Leviticus we see that during Yom Kippur some sacrifices had to be made according to the order of Moses by mandate of God, to get forgiveness. Who authorizes not to sacrifice now, but keep saying that it is the day of forgiveness?

The actual Judaism is not a divine Mosaic religion, but a non-divine rabbinical religion.

Summary of Chapter 6

Should a sincere worshiper of God change His laws without divine permission? Certainly not. This is what Judaism has done with the laws that God set forth through Moses. The immense majority of believers in God, including Christians, ignores the laws of God and changes the commandments. Examples in Christianity include the changes of the Sabbath and the worship of images; examples in Judaism occur in the Passover celebrated outside of Jerusalem and the pardon of sins without the sacrifice of lambs.

Jesus Christ had to die on the same day as the sacrifice of the Passover lamb. If Jesus had not been the true Lamb of God that cleanses once and for all the sins of those who accept His pardon, God would not have permitted cessation of the Temple sacrifices. This shouts in the ears of all who do not cover them that Jesus Christ is the Messiah.

The destruction of the genealogies and the Messiah

Chapter 7

It has been clearly established that the Messiah had to be from the Tribe of Judah and specifically a descendent of David, as compiled from various passages of the prophets.

> " 5 Behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that I will raise unto David a righteous Branch, and a King shall reignand prosper, and shall execute judgment and justice in the Earth. 6 In his days Judah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely. And this is his name whereby he shall be called: "The Lord our righteousness"."
>
> (Jer 23:5-6)

> " 15 In those days, and at that time, will I cause the Branch of righteousness to grow up unto David; and he shall execute judgment and righteousness in the land. 16 In those days shall Judah be saved, and Jerusalem shall dwell safely; and this is the name wherewith she shall be called, The LORD our righteousness. 17 For thus saith the LORD; David shall never want a man to sit upon the throne of the house of Israel."
>
> (Jer 33:15-17)

These prophecies were given in Jeremiah's epoch. After him, the kings of Israel or Judah no longer existed. For this reason, his prophecy does not refer to any of the kings that reigned in Israel or Judah.

Various prophecies show that one of the conditions that the Messiah had to fulfill was that he must be a descendent of David. The passage below shows this, given that the description can only refer to the Messiah and that beyond this relates him to David's throne. Logically the Messiah has to be a proven descendent of David.

> " 6 For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace. 7 Of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice from henceforth even for ever. The zeal of the LORD of hosts will perform this."
>
> (Isa 9:6-7)

When the people of Israel left Egypt, many people left with them who were not Hebrews but that had joined with them in leaving. I suppose that they left in order to escape slavery. Exodus 12:38 shows this clearly.

> "And a mixed multitude went up also with them; and flocks, and herds, even very much cattle."
>
> (Ex 12:38)

Given that these people who joined in the exodus were not Hebrews, therefore their descendants while Israelites from a political point of view, were not Hebrews from a messianic point of view. That is they were not children of Abraham, Isaac or Jacob. The Messiah could not descend from them.

Other kind of people that mixed with the Hebrew, and that cannot be detected today unless the genealogies exist, are those bought as slaves, which were circumcised, and the not native sojourners who also were circumcised if they wanted to participate of the Passover, as stated in Ex 12:44 and 48.

> "But every man's servant that is bought for money, when thou hast circumcised him, then shall he eat thereof."
>
> (Ex 12:44)

> "And when a stranger shall sojourn with thee, and will keep the Passover to the LORD, let all his males be circumcised, and then let him come near and keep it; and he shall be as one that is born in the land; for no uncircumcised person shall eat thereof."
>
> (Ex 12:48)

Upon mixing those people with the Hebrews, only by means of the genealogies could they be detected, to preclude them from being Levites, priests or messiah, given that they were not children of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and David.

Also the descendants of Moses' Father-in-law (Kenite) who were not Hebrews, became Israelites just like the multitude of the other foreigners that left Egypt during the exodus as the passage below states.

Similarly we read in Deuteronomy 23:7-8 that the descendants of the Egyptians and of the Edomites could form part of the "congregation of the LORD" in the third generation. In other words they were politically Israelites but they were neither Hebrews nor children of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and David. The Messiah could not come from their descendants. This is why the Israelites maintained meticulous registries of their genealogies. They did this with the purpose of assuring that the Messiah descended from Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and David. They also wanted to be sure that their priests were descendants of Aaron.

> "And the children of the Kenite, Moses' father in law, went up out of the city of palm trees with the children of Judah into the wilderness of Judah, which lieth in the south of Arad; and they went and dwelt among the people."
>
> (Jdg 1:16)

> " 7 Thou shalt not abhor an Edomite; for he is thy brother; thou shalt not abhor an Egyptian; because thou wast a stranger in his land. 8 The children that are begotten of them shall enter into the congregation of the LORD in their third generation."
>
> (Dt 23:7-8)

These outsiders mixed with the people, but the Hebrews, who always zealously kept their genealogies, always knew which ones were descendants of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Aaron, David, etc., and who were descendants of the people who had joined with the Hebrews. The Messiah had to descend from Abraham as well as from David, and Levites and priests had to be descendants of Levy and Aaron respectively. One clear case of an Egyptian who had an Israelite descendant is found in Lev 24:10 and First Chronicles 2:35. If you continue to read this passage, you will see how many people were descendants of this Egyptian and registered in these genealogies. This kind of mixture was why the Israelites maintained their genealogy books with such perfection. No one that was not a descendant of Abraham and David could declare to be the Messiah, nor could anyone who was not a descendant of Aaron become a priest in the Temple.

> "And the son of an Israelitish woman, whose father was an Egyptian, went out among the children of Israel; and this son of the Israelitish woman and a man of Israel strove together in the camp."
>
> (Lev 24:10)

> " 34 Now Sheshan had no sons, but daughters. And Sheshan had a servant, an Egyptian, whose name was Jarha. 35 And Sheshan gave his daughter to Jarha his servant to wife; and she bare him Attai."
>
> (I Chr 2:34-35)

When the people of the North, the nation of Israel, was destroyed and its people were taken into captivity, they mixed among the inhabitants of Assyria and the surrounding areas and became lost among the people of the world. Even that the nation of the south, Judah, was composed of people from all the tribes of Israel, the majority were descendants of the tribe of Judah. Notwithstanding, since in the Temple and in Judah, genealogical records were being kept it was known who were Israelites by naturalization and who were Hebrews, descendants of Abraham and David. From among these, they knew who were from the tribe of Judah and among the latter, who were descendants of David. The descendants of David were the only ones who could give way to the Messiah. The descendants of Aaron were the only ones with the right to the priesthood. They also knew who were just Levites, without any rights to the priesthood.

In order to confirm that the components of the diverse Tribes of Israel were mixed in with the inhabitants of the Tribe of Judah, it is enough to read the passages I present below. To this, we could add the fact that from the beginning, the possession of the Tribe of Simeon was found in the territory of the Tribe of Judah, whose components united with the Tribe of Judah.

Not all of who in actuality call themselves Jews are descendants of the Tribe of Judah. After the transmigration, the Israelites did not continue to live as each tribe in their region, but they mixed among themselves. In Jerusalem, there lived people from the tribes of Simeon, Benjamin, Ephraim, Manasseh and Judah as well as the Nethinims and the Levites. That same mixture of tribes is seen in Nehemiah 11:4. During that time, they knew what tribe they belonged to, because the genealogical books were still preserved. After the destruction of Jerusalem and the Temple by the Romans, all was lost. Today, no Jew knows what tribe he descends from.

Nowadays, we would never know if one who proclaimed himself to be the Messiah was or not from the Tribe of Judah and above all, a descendant of David, as it is supposed to be according to prophecy.

> " 2 Now the first inhabitants that dwelt in their possessions in their cities were, the Israelites, the priests, Levites, and the Nethinims. 3 And in Jerusalem dwelt of the children of Judah, and of the children of Benjamin, and of the children of Ephraim, and Manasseh."
>
> (I Chr 9:2-3)

> "And he gathered all Judah and Benjamin, and the strangers with them out of Ephraim and Manasseh, and out of Simeon; for they fell to him out of Israel in abundance, when they saw that the LORD his God was with him."
>
> (II Chr 15:9)

There are no existing genealogies today

Any Israelite, who is called a Jew, could be a descendant of an Egyptian, an Edomite, a Kenite or any other foreigner, the same as a descendant of Jacob or Aaron. No one can be certain of their ascendancy. Therefore, today one could not guarantee if one who says is the Messiah is a son of David or descendant of an Egyptian. In addition, we could also not know whether he is a descendant of Aaron with a right to the priesthood or if he is a descendant of an Edomite or simply a Levite.

This should be sufficient proof for any sincere Jew, who does not want to shut his eyes to the truth, to realize that Jewish religion ended with the total destruction of the Temple and the loss of the genealogical records. This occurred after the coming, crucifixion, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. This should be a sufficient sign for them to understand that if there can never be a Jewish religion, nor priesthood, nor Temple, no another Messiah, Jesus had to be the Messiah. The prophecies of God regarding the coming of the Messiah cannot fail, so therefore there is no other possibility.

That should cause Jews to reason, that if the genealogical tree of any Israelite cannot be known, and if God permitted such a thing to happen, it is because the Messiah has already come, and therefore, it is not necessary to know the ascendance of any other supposed “messiah”.

Summary of Chapter 7

The Jews kept very meticulous records of their genealogy. One of the reasons was that the Messiah had to be a descendant of Abraham and David. Another reason was to know who could be a priest by being a descendant of Aaron. Without the genealogies, no one could guarantee that they were descendants of those patriarchs. Given that when the Israelites left Egypt, many who were not descendants of Abraham joined them, and that during the time of the Judges and Kings there was also a great mix, the genealogies were indispensable.

Now a days not all that are called Jews are descendant of the tribe of Judah. In Jerusalem lived people from the tribes of Simeon, Benjamin, Ephraim, Manasseh, and Judah, beside Nethinims and Levites.

During that time, they knew what tribe they were from, because the genealogical books were still kept. After the destruction of Jerusalem and the Temple by the Romans, all was lost, and nowadays no Jew knows what tribe they descend from.

Therefore, no one can prove that he is the Messiah, son of Abraham and David. This demonstrates that Jesus Christ is the Messiah because now another one cannot be a messiah.

Genealogy and the priesthood

Chapter 8

In God's law, a very rigorous mandate was that only the sons of Aaron could be priests in the Temple. No one that was not from the lineage of Aaron could officiate as a priest, or he would have a death sentence. We shall see in addition in the book of Ezra how on one occasion, not having genealogical proof of Aaronic lineage in certain priests they were cast from the priesthood. Without authentic genealogical proof, neither priests nor Levites could officiate. Even in the case in which through tradition their correct lineage was known, genealogical proof was required. Let us see the requirements of the law of God, given by Moses for the priesthood. Notice specifically that it was absolutely prohibited for someone to exercise the priesthood if he wasn't from the lineage of Aaron.

> "And when the tabernacle setteth forward, the Levites shall take it down-, and when the tabernacle is to be pitched, the Levites shall set it up; and the stranger that cometh nigh shall be put to death."
>
> (Numbers 1:51)

> "And Nadab and Abihu died before the LORD, when they offered strange fire before the LORD, in the wilderness of Sinai, and they had no children; and Eleazar and Ithamar ministered in the priest's ojfice in the sight of Aaron their father."
>
> (Numbers 3:4)

> "And thou shalt appoint Aaron and his sons, and they shall wait on their priest's ojfice; and the stranger that cometh nigh shall be put to death."
>
> (Numbers 3:10)

> "But those that encamp before the tabernacle toward the east, even before the tabernacle of the congregation eastward, shall be Moses, and Aaron and his sons, keeping the charge of the sanctuary for the charge of the children of Israel; and the stranger that cometh nigh shall be put to death."
>
> (Numbers 3:38)

> " 35 And there came out a fire from the LORD, and consumed the two hundred and fifty men that offered incense. 36 And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying, 37 Speak unto Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest, that he take up the censers out of the burning, and scatter thou the fire yonder; for they are hallowed. 38 The censers of these sinners against their own souls, let them make them broad plates for a covering of the altar, for they ojfered them before the LORD, therefore they are hallowed; and they shall be a sign unto the children of Israel. 39 And Eleazar the priest took the brasen censers, wherewith they that were burnt had offered, and they were made broad plates for a covering of the altar, 40 to be a memorial unto the children of Israel, that no stranger, which is not of the seed of Aaron, come near to offer incense before the LORD; that he be not as Korah, and as his company, as the LORD said to him by the hand of Moses."

(Numbers 16:35-40)

" 1 And the LORD said unto Aaron: Thou and thy sons and thy father's house with thee shall bear the iniquity of the sanctuary, and thou and thy sons with thee shall bear the iniquity of your priesthood*. 2 And thy brethren also of the tribe of Levi, the tribe of thy father, bring thou with thee, that they may be joined unto thee, and minister unto thee, but thou and thy sons with thee shall minister before the tabernacle of witness. 3 And they shall keep thy charge, and the charge of all the tabernacle.* Only they shall not come nigh the vessels of the sanctuary and the altar, that neither they, nor ye also, die*. 4 And they shall be joined unto thee, and keep the charge of the tabernacle of the congregation, for all the service of the tabernacle, and* a stranger shall not come nigh unto you*. 5 And ye shall keep the charge of the sanctuary, and the charge of the altar,* that there be no wrath any more upon the children of Israel*. 6 And I, behold, I have taken your brethren the Levites from among the children of Israel; to you they are given as a gift for the LORD, to do the service of the tabernacle of the congregation. 7 Therefore thou and thy sons with thee shall keep your priest's office for everything of the altar, and within the vail; and ye shall serve. I have given your priest's office unto you as a service of gift, and* the stranger that cometh nigh shall be put to death*."*

(Number 18:1-7)

You may have noticed that with God's commandment, you didn't play the game of am I or am I not a descendant of Aaron. Whoever dared to usurp this ministry was punished by capital punishment. That is the reason why we see in the book of Ezra that on one occasion, due to the fact that there was no genealogical proof, various individuals were cast out from the priesthood.

From the reading of this passage which I present below, we realize how strict was the issue of being proven descendants of Aaron in order to exercise the priesthood. Here we see that no one was permitted to be a priest if he could not prove without a doubt his Aaronic genealogy. The simple testimony of acquaintances or the name they may have had was not permitted as "proof".

The persons mentioned in verse 60 as well as the priests mentioned in verse 61 had genealogical problems. The priests in verse 61, however, had more problems, because by not being able to find the genealogies that would prove they were descendants of Aaron, they were cast out of the priesthood, as is seen in verse 62.

" 59 And these were they which went up from Telmelah, Telharsa, Cherub, Addan, and Immer, but they could not shew their father 's house, and their seed, whether they were of Israel*: 60 the children of Delaiah, the children of Tobiah, the children of Nekoda, six hundred fifty and two. 61* And of the children of the priests*: the children of Habaiah, the children of Koz, the children of Barzillai; which took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite, and was* > called after their name. 62 These sought their register among those that were reckoned by genealogy, but they were not found, therefore were they, as polluted, put from the priesthood."*

>
> (Ezra 2:59-62)

As we can see, because of the lack of genealogical registry, they were cast out of the priesthood, even though according to tradition they were the sons of priests. These that had living witnesses of being sons of Aaron, but did not have the written genealogy, were persons that thought in good faith that they were from the family of the priesthood but were not admitted. It is good to note that these who were cast from the priesthood because of not having genealogy were not persons whose ancestors were lost due to a remote period. They were persons whose fathers and grandfathers lived 70 years earlier, when the first Temple was destroyed. However, not even in that case were they allowed to be priests and the ones that already were priests, were put out.

Well, the Second Temple was destroyed by the Roman armies almost two thousand years ago and with that all the genealogy and the nation. Never again were there genealogies in Israel. It is more evident that today no one has proof of having been from the descendants of Aaron, being that almost two thousand years have passed and not seventy.

Those aspiring to be priests in the future third temple do not have the demonstrative genealogythat authenticates the descendents of Aaron. They cannot even demonstrate if they are or not from Israel, their tradition is lost throughout the nebulous centuries. People who in the past have mixed in with the nation of Israel cannot be detected. Above all the Israelites of the tribes of Simeon, Benjamin, Efrain, Manasseh, etc.. In addition, Egyptians, Edomites, Romans, etc., without forgetting the Europeans in general who have been mixed throughout the centuries with the Jews of today. It is to say, that not only today no Jew knows what tribe he is a descendant of, but he doesn't even know if he is a descendant of some of the foreigners who a thousand, two thousand or four thousand years ago mixed with the Jews. This way, even less would a Jew of today know if he is a descendant of Aaron. And if no one can prove that he descends from Aaron, no one can be a priest in the future third temple as invented by them, because there is no divine backing and order as in the two previous Temples.

The future Jewish priesthood will be illegitimate as there are no genealogies

Even those whose last name is "Cohen", cannot demonstrate by way of genealogy that they are truly descendants of Levi. Those names could have been adopted in past centuries for the sake of mere personal convenience, by any Jew who was from another tribe or anyone who, without being Jewish could have infiltrated himself among them. As we previously saw, the ones that were named Barzillai the Gileadite and others were cast from the priesthood.

It is evident that these contradictions are shouting out to the ears of every Jew, who do not cover their ears, that the Messiah, the True Lamb of God, has already come. These contradictions are shouting out to their ears, that Jesus Christ was the lamb symbolized from the lambs of different rituals and ceremonies. That he was the Messiah and to reject him is an affront towards God.

The absence of the Temple is a warning that God separated Himself from them

In the passage below I present that God warns the nation of Israel that if they separate from Him, the Temple would be destroyed. Therefore, the absence of the Temple indicates that they separated themselves from God.

> " 19 But if ye turn away, and forsake my statutes and my commandments, which I have set before you, and shall go and serve other gods, and worship them, 20- then will I pluck them up by the roots out of my land which I have given them, and this house, which I have sanctified for my name, will I cast out of my sight, and will make it to be a proverb and a byword among all nations."
>
> (II Chr 7:19-20)

The First Temple was destroyed and the Jews were rooted out of the land by Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon because Israel separated itself from God. How did Israel separate itself from God this first time? They did so by worshiping images. The Jews returned from Babylonian captivity and by mandate from God constructed the Second Temple. As is logical, for that Second Temple, the warning in the recently read passage was also valid: if they once again separated themselves from God, the Second Temple would also be destroyed.

Precisely, the Second Temple was also destroyed and the Jews were rooted out of the land again, this time by Rome, a second "Babylon", because the Jews once again separated themselves from God. What did they do this second time to separate themselves from God? God sent His Messiah, but the Jews rejected Him and therefore separated themselves from God. As a consequence, the Second Temple was destroyed and the Jews returned to captivity, same as when they separated themselves from God upon the destruction of the First Temple.

If their separation from God had not been motivated by their rejection of Jesus Christ as the Messiah, then, what other great sin did the nation of Israel commit this time, that God punished them so severely, destroying the Second Temple and hurling them to a diaspora much worse than that of the 70 Babylonian years? The absence of the Temple and the prolonged diaspora, declare without words, but very seriously and eloquently, that Jesus is the Messiah, the Son of God.

Summary of Chapter 8

For the same reason as the mix of other nations with the nation of Israel and because of the absence of genealogy, something we saw in the preceding chapter, it is that today we cannot know if someone who says is a descendant of Aaron he truly is. The law of Moses was extremely strict in not allowing men who could not prove by way of genealogy that they were descendants of Aaron, to be priests. That is why as we saw previously in Ezra 2:59-62, those that alleged to be descendants of Aaron were cast out even though their genealogies has only been lost for 70 years, even that they claim to be Aaron's descendants. People who have lost their genealogy for 2000 years are even less authorized to take on the task of the priesthood, even if they have adopted the name "Cohen".

All of these contradictions are screaming out to the ears of all those who do not want to cover them that the Messiah already arrived. It is clear that the true Lamb of God was sacrificed, which was symbolized by the lamb sacrifices. Therefore, there is no need for a Temple, nor sacrifices, nor priests. Any temple or sacrifice that is established in Jerusalem will be spurious, not authentic, illegitimate, and will not enjoy the blessings of God, but the usurpation of the antiChrist.

As we previously saw, the absence of the Temple was a sign that the Jewish nation had separated themselves from God. The first separation from God was punished by the destruction of the First Temple by Nebuchadnezzar and the expulsion from their land for 70 years, and its cause was idolatry. The second separation from God occurred by having rejected the Messiah, the chosen one of God and was punished by the destruction of the Temple by the Romans and the expulsion from their land for almost 2000 years. If this was not the cause, what other great sin committed the nation to be so severely punished?

Is Jesus Christ the Son of God?

Chapter 9

The entire Psalm 2 convinces us, without a doubt that it describes the Messiah. Among other things, because verses 8 and 9 show that his Kingdom extends to all people and not just Zion. This Psalm shows that God has a Son (verses 7 and 12); that the Son is the Messiah, the one who would reign over Zion (verses 6-9); and that one must serve God as much as his Son (verses 11 and 12). Let's see.

> " 1 Why do the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing? 2 The kings of the Earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the LORD, and against his anointed*, saying: 3 Let us break their bands asunder, and cast away their cords from us. 4 He that sitteth in the Heavens shall laugh, the Lord shall have them in derision. 5 Then shall he speak unto them in his wrath, and vex them in his sore displeasure. 6 Yet have I set my king upon my holy hill of Zion. 7 I will declare the decree, the LORD hath said unto me:* Thou art my Son*;* this day have I begotten thee*. 8* Ask of me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the Earth for thy possession*. 9* Thou shalt break them with a rod of iron; thou shalt dash them in pieces like a potter's vessel*. 10 Be wise now therefore, O ye kings, be instructed, ye judges of the Earth. 11 Serve the LORD with fear, and rejoice with trembling. 12* Kiss the Son, lest he be angry*, and ye perish from the way, when his wrath is kindled but a little. Blessed are all they that put their trust in him."*
>
> (Ps 2:1-12)

As we have read, since the remote time of antiquity, before the New Testament, it was known that a Son of God existed, truth denied by Muslims. In verse 2 of the passage recently read we see that it is speaking about the Messiah and in verse 7, God says to that Messiah, "Thou art my Son". In 8 and 9, he promises that he will give Him power over the whole Earth, ending in verse 12 by saying to kiss the Son. It is evident that from the most remote part of antiquity of the Old Testament, it is known that God has a Son, a special being that has all the characteristics of an Only Begotten Son.

Something similar can be found when referring to God in Proverbs 30:4 says, "...What is his name, and what is his son's name, if thou canst tell?" This part of Proverbs 30:4 is in concordance with Psalm 2:7 which says, "the LORD hath said unto me: Thou art my Son".

It is declared here that the Creator has a Son, a particular and special son; not just one of his creatures whom he called son. It is also good to note that the first verse of this chapter of Proverbs, states that this is a prophecy, something inspired by God.

I have never been contented reading the entire Bible many times, but in addition, in the many times I have read it, I have tried to read it in as many different translations as possible. In that way, I have read the Reina-Valera the old version (which is the best); I have read the Scio de San Miguel (which is the best among the Catholic Bibles); I have read Nácar-Colunga; the photographic copy of the translation of Casiodoro de Reina only, before the revision by Cipriano Valera, which was printed in 1573; the translation by Torres Amat; the photographic copy of the original Cipriano de Valera version, printed in 1602; I have read the Reina-Valera printed in 1855-; the Russellists version; the New American Standard, in English; the King James Version, also in English which is the best English one; the New King James Version; the modern version; the Hebrew Old Testamenttranslated to Spanish by Rabbis; the Reina-Valera 1960version; the Chronological Bible; and I can't remember how many other versions, not counting how many times I have repeated the reading of the before mentioned versions. And when I say that I have read these versions, I am saying from Genesis to Revelations, as I always do, without skipping over anything. This is not counting the "sacred" books of the Seventh Day Adventists, the Mormons, Armstrong's World Wide Church, the Russellites, the Koran, etc.

What I am trying to say by mentioning all of this, is that I am not a narrow minded person. I am not one of those that see everything only through the crack his sect permits him the scrutiny of truth. I do not belong to any sect, nor am I a person that only knows what he read in the translation of the Bible which is authorized by his sect, because I have read all the translations of the Bible of all of them.

Because I have precisely done that, it is that I have knowledge and moral strength to recommend the Old Version of the Reina-Valera as the best one that exists. Because I have read all these versions it is that I can say that there are errors in them; a few in some and many in others; and that there are even voluntary alterations. This is the case of the Hebrew version in Spanish by Leon Dujovne, Manasés y Moisés Konstantynowski, printed by Editorial S. Sigal, Corrientes 2854, Buenos Aires, Argentina.

As in all dishonest sectarians, the Hebrew version translated into Spanish maintains the purity of the Bible in everything that is not a frank contradiction of its dogmas. When it comes to those passages that clearly and unequivocally signal out Jesus Christ as the Messiah, they distort it, omit it or "explain" it.

This is the case with Psalm 2:12. In Verse 11 of the Reina-Valera version, speaking about God, it says: "Serve the LORD with fear, and rejoice with trembling. Kiss the Son (it says in the beginning of 12) lest he be angry...." As we can see, this is a clear and open reference to the Son of God; this absolutely supports and is totally within the concept that God has a son. This is a concept that the Jews and the Muslims totally deny.

In order to not "give in", in the Jewish translation to the Spanish previously mentioned, they omit the phrase "Kiss the Son", and they substitute it for the false phrase “Get armed with purity”. This falsification of the Sacred Scriptures they do knowingly, it is not an error. They are impostors who deceive those who trust in them as translators and they will have to account for this dirty trick in the Day of Judgment.

Now, it would be fitting to ask me: “You, who do not know Hebrew, how can you know which translators are right? How dare you ‘judge’ your fellow man?”

When I reach a conclusion against something sustained by “A”, I do not do so based on what “B”, which is an antagonist of “A” tells me, but in what “A” tells me. God is great and powerful and is not without testimony of the truth, even in the Bibles that are altered and rigged. Even the Bible translated by the Russellites, which is altered from Genesis to Revelations, testifies against themselves, against their own doctrines!

As in the case of Jewish translation, I did not know Hebrew, I had to rig a solution. I had an edition of the Old Testament in Hebrew (the version printed in Israel by the editor “Sinai Publishing” in Tel Aviv), so I took a photocopy of that psalm from the book. I took that copy to a Hebrew friend, a scientist specialized in biophysics, a sabra Jew, born and raised in Israel who worked with me, and I asked him to translate the words of verse 12. My Hebrew friend, who spoke and read the Hebrew language as his native language, and English as an acquired language, answered me in latter one, that it was the common language which we used to communicate: “Here says: Kiss the son”.

What these translators had modified in order to translate to Spanish, the other Rabbis had not dared to modify in the Hebrew. Why? The high cleric of all the sects, the directors of erroneous sects are not willing to tell the truth to the sheep from which they shear the wool. On another hand, the believer in general is lazy to read the Bible, the Christian as well as the Jew. He will read it even less in a language he does not know. That is why in translating it to the common language of the country in which they live, they modify it, but in an unknown language, in the language only known by the Rabbis and high clergy of the mentioned country, in the language read by only those who have sectarian and economic interests in their religion, it is not necessary to modify it. Even if they read the truth and perceive it, they will not believe it because they do not want to do so.

When Jesus once again demonstrated his divinity in resurrecting Lazarus, the sincere Jews accepted it as proof that Jesus was the Messiah. Nevertheless, the insincere, prejudicial and those belonging to the Pharisee and Sadducee clergy, determined that it was necessary to kill Lazarus, so that there would be no proof of his resurrection (John 12:9-10). All of this will have to be accounted for in the Day of Judgment.

On the other hand, the multitude of sincere Jewish believers, that are sincerely mistaken, who were born in Israel and know the Hebrew language, are not willing to allow the Sacred Scripture to be modified in a language that they understand: the Hebrew language; and of which they have hundreds of orthodox copies. Sincere Rabbis, in all countries, will not allow either Scripture to be modified. That is why the translators can only make partial alterations and only in a language in which any falsification will not produce much antagonism or problems among their own people.

Also in the book of the prophet Ezekiel, as I have pointed out in other places, the fact that God has a son is evidenced; not just any creature, but a special being which He considers His son. In the Hebrew Bible which is translated to Spanish, even though the translation has not been altered, the number of verses differ, what we have here in Ezekiel 21:10, they have in Ezekiel 21:15. This difference in the numeration occurs frequently in this translation.

> " 8 Again the word of the LORD came unto me, saying: 9 Son of man, prophesy, and say: Thus saith the LORD, Say: A sword, a sword is sharpened, and also furbished. 10 It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter; it is furbished that it may glitter. Should we then make mirth? It contemneth the rod of my son, as every tree*. 11 And he hath given it to be furbished, that it may be handled, this sword is sharpened, and it is furbished, to give it into the hand of the slayer. 12 Cry and howl, son of man,* for it shall be upon my people, it shall be upon all the princes of Israel; terrors by reason of the sword shall be upon my people; smite therefore upon thy thigh."
>
> (Ezk 21:8-12)

It is good to remember upon reading verse 10, what is later said in verse 12. There, we can learn that the sword which is mentioned would be sent against the nation of Israel and against its princes. We also see there that it specifies that the fear of the sword referred to "my nation". That indicates to us that the word "son" which exist in the phrase "It contemneth the rod of my son, as every tree.", cannot possibly be referring to the nation of Israel as some want us to see. It cannot be referring to the nation of Israel, because what it is saying about the "son", is a complaint because they undervalue the son, while what they are saying about Israel is that it will be punished by sword. It is to say, that on one hand, God complains that his son is undervalued, while on the other hand, God says that he will punish Israel by way of sword. It is not logical to think that God will punish Israel because that nation (Israel) was undervalued. The logical thing is to think that Christ, His Son, is the one who is undervalued, and that is what God is complaining about, while Israel is punished by sword, and that is what God is announcing in this passage (8-32).

Some would be willing to believe that Jesus Christ is the Messiah, but it is hard for them to accept that he is a divine being. The great King David considered that the Messiah was his Lord. Being the Messiah a descendant of David from a carnal point of view, it is not logical for him to call him Lord. However, David refers to God as well as the Messiah as Lord.

In the case of David saying the phrase "God said to my Lord", it is clear that he refers to God the Father as God, and that the person which calls "my Lord", (that is the Lord of David) is the one who sits at the right hand of God. By logic, the one who sits at the right hand of God can only be the Messiah, and to be worthy to sit at the right hand of God, have to be a being of His same "class". The fact that David calls the Messiah, "Lord" clearly indicates that the Messiah was not going to be a human being, but someone in a superior hierarchy, someone divine.

> "A Psalm of David. The LORD said unto my Lord: Sit thou at my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool."
>
> (Ps 110:1)

If the Messiah announced here was a human being, the great King David would not have called him "my Lord" for two reasons. The first, because the founder of the dynasty was David and the Messiah would be a mere descendant of the founder, therefore the founder was superior for being the founder and for being an ancestor. The second, because never ever, and even less during that time, would someone refer to a descendant as "my Lord". It was the descendants that treated their ancestors with such respect. Therefore, if David treats the Messiah as "my Lord", it is evident that he was not going to be a human being, but a divine one. Otherwise David did not have to call him "my Lord" in any event.

In a nutshell, David, who is a greatly considered man in Judaism, and who was a prophet, upon calling the Messiah his Lord, proves that he did not consider Him to be human. If he would have considered Him human, he did not have to call him his Lord, because he was going to be one of his descendants. This veneration manifested by David towards the Messiah indicates that he was someone more than a human chosen by God to be the King of Israel, coming from David's offspring.

This thought on the divinity of Jesus Christ is in concordance to what is stated in Psalm 45:6-7. Upon saying in verse 6 "Thy throne, O God.." it is clear that this refers to a divine being. In continuing, in verse 7, speaking to that person and saying, "therefore God, thy God, hath anointed thee", is showing us that whom he was speaking to first, was not God the Father, but someone who had been anointed by God. It pertained to one who had God in a superior place from his, or therefore, the Messiah. Upon seeing that previously he treated the Messiah as a divine being helps us see that the true Messiah is a divine being, even though he is not God the Father.

> " 6 Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever; the sceptre of thy kingdom is a right sceptre. 7 Thou lovest righteousness, and hatest wickedness, therefore God, thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows."
>
> (Ps 45:6-7)

The Hebrew translation to Spanish by Dujovne & Konstantynowski, instead of including this passage in the previously mentioned verses, it is found in 7 and 8. In addition, the first verse is twisted by being translated in the following manner: "your throne shall be established by God...", which takes away the connotation of the divinity of the Messiah. However, the best way to know who is correct is to take a Bible in Hebrew, photocopy that passage, cut out those two verses (7 and 8) and give them to a Jew, born in Israel, without religious inclination so that he reads it without knowledge of what it is about and therefore be honest in its translation.

Also, there is the fact that in Isaiah 7:14, which we have already read, the son that the virgin was to give birth would be called Emmanuel, which is saying that the being it is speaking about would be divine. The word "Emmanuel" means "God is with us".

If after studying prophecies, we got to the conclusion that Christ is the Messiah, and he says that he is the Son of God and that he is a divine being, it is logical that we believe him, the Messiah doesn't say lies.

Summary of Chapter 9

Another thing that causes difficulty to those who read rabbinical writings, but not the Old Testament, is the affirmation that Christ is the son of God. However, we clearly saw in Psalm 2 that speaks about the Messiah and in this context it is said that God has a son, especially in verse 12. The same can be said for Proverbs 30:4, where it speaks about the Son of God and in Ezekiel 21:8-12. We also see that David, in Psalm 110:1 calls the Messiah by the name Lord. This is a sign that he was a being superior to man, because if not, the great King David would have not called him "my Lord". He would have not treated him as a superior for two reasons: first, because the founder of the dynasty was David and the Messiah would merely be a descendant of the founder; and secondly, because never ever, but much less in that time, was a descendant be referred to or called "my Lord". This thought about the divinity of the Messiah, is in concordance with what is said in Psalm 45:6-7, where the context tells us that it is talking about the Messiah. Upon verse 6 saying "Thy Throne, oh God..." we see that he is speaking to a divine being. All of these verses, taken from the Old Testament, speak to us about the divinity of the Messiah, as the Son of God.

Slandering Christ is easier than reading Scripture, but more dangerous to the slanderer

Chapter 10

I have frequently argued with some of my Jewish friends, that because of being educated under the rabbinical influence, they have assured me that Jesus said he was the son of God, because he did not have a recognized father and among the Jews being a bastard is a very grave stain. That is why, according to them, his defense was to say, when asked about his father, that he was the son of God, one of the sons, as with any other human. However, that is false because the entire town knew him as the son of the carpenter.

In addition, the most elementary logic tells us that if there would have been the smallest suspicion that Christ was a bastard, his fellow believers and above all his enemies of the religious elite, would have not allowed him to go the Temple, or belong to the synagogue, they would have expelled him, and they would not have allowed him to teach in the synagogue. The law of God prohibited bastards from belonging to the congregation, as it is seen in Deuteronomy 23:2.

> "A bastard shall not enter into the congregation of the LORD; even to his tenth generation shall he not enter into the congregation of the LORD."
>
> (Deuteronomy 23:2)

> " 54 And when he was come into his own country, he taught them in their synagogue, insomuch that they were astonished, and said: Whence hath this man this wisdom, and these mighty works? 55 Is not this the carpenter's son? Is not his mother called Mary? And his brethren, James, and Joses, and Simon, and Judas? 56 And his sisters, are they not all with us? Whence then hath this man all these things? 57 And they were offended in him. But Jesus said unto them: A prophet is not without honour, save in his own country, and in his own house."
>
> (Matthew 13:54-57)

As it is seen in this passage he was considered the son of the carpenter by the entire town and in addition, knew his entire family. Therefore, Jesus was not confronted with the social problem of being a son without a father, a bastard, as some rabbis have slandered. Slander was easier than using common sense as seen in Isaiah 7:14; Isaiah 53; Daniel 9:24-27, etc..

Don't anyone respond that the verse Matthew 13:55 is a lie placed there to distort the case of him being a bastard, because if the writer would have wanted to lie, they would not have written that Jesus was not a direct son of Joseph. They could have said that he was his carnal son, but with the intervention of the Spirit of God. When all the things that have been said in Scripture is said, without omitting any, it is because, primarily they are telling the truth and secondly because they don't care what others say or think

I have tried to take those Jewish friends away from their error with this reasoning on one hand, and on the other, showing the many prophecies about Christ as the Messiah as there is in the Old Testament. The problem is that the rabbis, as the Catholic hierarchy and many other sects that are not Catholic, emphasize that their parishioners go to the synagogue and leave money; but very little in the reading of Scripture by their followers themselves.

The majority of the most religious only read a portion of the Torah (Pentateuch) each Sabbath in the synagogue... and that is all. They never read the prophets, Psalms, etc.. They ignore most of it. Instead of the Old Testament, they read the Talmud to them and a series of rabbinical books. These books, like those of all religious elites, do not teach about God, but they only aspire to maintain themselves in the position of influence and dominance Look throughout each synagogue, to see if you find a Jew who has read the complete Old Testament at least twenty times in his life. The great majority have not completely read it once. If you are not interested in the word of God, how can you find the truth?

Those who dare to slander the Messiah are playing with fire, because they are knowingly transgressing the ninth commandment, and they are transgressing against God and His Messiah.

> "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour."
>
> (Ex 20:16)

Summary of Chapter 10

There are Jews who slander Christ by saying that he was a bastard son. The law of God prohibited a bastard son to belong to the synagogue. If there would have been the slightest suspicion that Christ was a bastard, his fellow believers and above all his enemies of the religious elite would not have allowed him to belong to the synagogue, and much less teach there or enter the Temple. The whole town knew Christ as the son of the carpenter.

Those who dare to slander the Messiah are playing with the fires of Hell because knowingly they are transgressing the ninth commandment and are doing so against God and His Messiah.

Prophesies of the Old and the New Testament indicate to us that the Jews would convert to Christ in final times

Chapter 11

When the prophet Hosea says: "For the children of Israel shall abide many days without a king...etc.", he is undoubtedly referring to the period of the diaspora and not the captivity of Babylon, because he is talking about the end of days. In addition, there were still prophets and princes during the period of Babylon. Only the diaspora is in concordance with this description of the prophet Hosea, because during the centuries of the diaspora there were never high priests nor did they worship idols

> " 4 For the children of Israel shall abide many days without a king, and without a prince, and without a sacrifice, and without an image, and without an ephod, and without teraphim. 5 Afterward shall the children of Israel return, and seek the LORD their God, and David their king; and shall fear the LORD and his goodness in the latter days."
>
> (Hos 3:4-5)

We should note that it is said that after that period in which they would find themselves without priests, nor sacrifices, etc., it adds that they would seek the Lord their God and David, their king. From this, we realize that they are talking about the Messiah; because the true King David had already died, there was no way of seeking him. In addition, we should notice that it says that this would occur "in the latter days". From that statement we can come to the conclusion that the Jews, in the end of days, would convert to Christ.

In the New Testament there are also prophecies that point out the future conversion of the Jews towards Christ. One of them is Saint Paul's in which he symbolically compares the Jews to the olive tree and the gentiles (goyim) to a wild olive tree. Let's see.

> " 17 And if some of the branches be broken off, and thou, being a wild olive tree, wert graffed in among them, and with them partakest of the root and fatness of the olive tree; 18 boast not against the branches. But if thou boast, thou bearest not the root, but the root thee. 19 Thou wilt say then: The branches were broken off, that I might be graffed in. 20 Well; because of unbelief they were broken off, and thou standest by faith. Be not highminded, but fear. 21 For if God spared not the natural branches, take heed lest he also spare not thee. 22- Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God: on them which fell, severity; but toward thee, goodness, if thou continue in his goodness, otherwise thou also shalt be cut off. 23 And they also, if they abide not still in unbelief, shall be graffed in, for God is able to graff them in again. 24 For if thou wert cut out of the olive tree which is wild by nature, and wert graffed contrary to nature into a good olive tree, how much more shall these, which be the natural branches, be graffed into their own olive tree? 25 For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this mystery, lest ye should be wise in your own conceits; that blindness in part is happened to Israel, until the fullness of the Gentiles be come in. 26 And so all Israel shall be saved*, as it is written: There shall come out of Sion the Deliverer, and shall turn away ungodliness from Jacob."*

(Ro 11:17-26)

As we can see, in the prophecies of the Old Testament as in the New Testament, exist the announcement that in the end of days, the Jews would convert to Jesus Christ, as their personal savior. The Lamb of God, who cleanses the sins, as symbolized by the lambs sacrificed in the Temple, will at last be accepted.

The Messiah would come twice: once as the Lamb of God and the other as the King of the Earth

Upon reading the prophecies in the Old Testament as well as the New Testament, we find that the Messiah was going to come twice: the first, when He would come to suffer for our sins, and the second coming, when He would come to reign with an iron rod. The first coming, in which he would suffer for our sins, is prophesized in the 52 and 53 chapters of Isaiah. The second coming, when he will rule the earth is prophesized in various passages, in which I chose Psalm 2:8-9 and Psalm 110:1-2. Let's see.

Isa 52:13 Behold, my servant shall deal prudently, he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very high.

14 As many were astonied at thee; his visage was so marred more than any man, and his form more than the sons of men.

15 So shall he sprinkle many nations*; the kings shall shut their mouths at him, for that which had not been told them shall they see; and that which they had not heard shall they consider.*

53:1 Who hath believed our report? And to whom is the arm of the LORD revealed?

2 For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground. He hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him*.*

3 He is despised and rejected of men*; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief.* And we hid as it were our faces from him*;* he was despised*, and* we esteemed him not*.*

4 Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows*, yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afllicted.*

5 But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities, the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.

6 All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the LORD hath laid on him the iniquity of us all.

7 He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth; he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth.

8 He was taken from prison and from judgment; and who shall declare his generation? For he was cut off out of the land of the living, for the transgression of my people was he stricken.

9 And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

10 Yet it pleased the LORD to bruise him; he hath put him to grief. When thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the LORD shall prosper in his hand.

11 He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied. By his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many; for he shall bear their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong; because he hath poured out his soul unto death, and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors.

(Isa 52:13 to 53:12)

Up to this point we see the prophecy of his First Coming. Let's see now in Psalm 2, where we see that it is referring to the Messiah. In this context, it says that He would rule over the people with a rod of iron, that is, He is not coming like the first time to allow himself to be crucified, spit upon, beaten, etc., for our sins. Being that our sins are already cleansed by the acceptance of his sacrifice, He does not have to return to suffer, but to govern. That is why the prophecy says:

" 8 Ask of me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the Earth for thy possession. 9 Thou shalt break them with a rod of iron; thou shalt dash them in pieces like a potter's vessel"

(Ps 2:8-9)

We also have this other of David's Psalms and a passage from the prophet Zechariah:

" 1 A Psalm of David. The LORD said unto my Lord: Sit thou at my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool. 2 The LORD shall send the rod of thy strength out of Zion, rule thou in the midst of thine enemies."

(Ps 110:1-2)

" 8 In that day shall the LORD defend the inhabitants of Jerusalem; and he that is feeble among them at that day shall be as David; and the house of David shall be as God, as the angel of the LORD before them. 9 And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will seek to destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem. 10 And I will pour upon the house of David, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the spirit of grace and of supplications, and they shall look upon me whom they have pierced*, and they shall mourn for him, as one mourneth for his only son, and shall be in bitterness for him, as one that is in bitterness for his firstborn."*

(Zechariah 12:8-10)

As we have seen, there are two types of clear references about the coming of the Messiah. The first type of references, as the Lamb of God to take away the sin of those who accept Him. The second type, as the King of the Earth to impose justice.

Dear Reader, do not be one of those who reject the salvation that Jesus Christ, the Lamb sent by God offers you. Do not become threatened by the fact that if you convert to Jesus Christ, those that share in same religion as you will call you "marrano", or will erase you from their book of friends. It is worse for God to erase you from the Book of Life. Religions that have to be imposed with pressures, vendettas or brute force, are not of God.

If in order to "look good" with them, you go towards perdition, when you are in Hell, none of those "friends" who now sing praises if you do not convert to Christ, will be able to help you in anything. Accept Jesus Christ, the Lamb of God, who is He whose blood cleans your sins, and liberate yourself from Hell, as symbolized by the ritual sacrifices in the Temple.

If at the end of days, many Jews will accept Jesus Christ, be one of the first and not one of the last.

Summary of Chapter 11

Various prophesies of the Old and New Testament indicate that the Jews will accept Christ in the end of days. Perhaps during the last of the seventy weeks of the prophet Daniel. In the Old Testament, in Hosea 3:4-5, we see such a thing, and later in the New Testament in Romans 11:17-26.

Let us remember Psalm 2 in which we see that it is referring to the Messiah. In that context, it says that He will rule with a rod of iron. Therefore, He is not coming as the first time allowing himself to be crucified, spit upon, beaten, etc., for our sins. This second time He is coming to rule, to put the world in order and impose true justice. That will be the Second Coming of Christ, this time he will come in the clouds. Remember this that I say to you, because it is a life or death issue: if He does not come from the clouds, he is not the true Messiah. That was what Prophet Daniel announced in 7:13- 14, when he said that the one to whom was going to be given all power in the whole world (the Messiah) was to come in the clouds of heaven.

> " 13 I saw in the night visions, and, behold, one like the Son of man came with the clouds of heaven, and came to the Ancient of days, and they brought him near before him. 14 And there was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all people, nations, and languages, should serve him; his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed."
>
> (Dn 7: 13-14)

Remember, if he does not come in the clouds, he is not the true Messiah-, he is an impostor, probably the antiChrist. Don't forget, because it is a matter of life or death, a matter of salvation or eternal damnation.